$17,000,000 for Charity
Gorillas Won't Fight
It Pays to Stick
If "Big Bill" Gets Rich
—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1922, star Co.

Our Jewish fellow citizens, asked to give fourteen million dollars to starving women and children in Eastern Europe, have contributed more than seventeen millions.

Experience and statistics prove that money thus collected is well spent—for food that actually reaches the poor, not for fashionable salaries.

The collection of this vast sum, following upon so many "drives," is a tribute to the charity and energy of the American Jews.

They take care of their own, at home and abroad. Special thanks are due to David A. Brown, of Detroit, who managed the national campaign from the beginning, neglecting all his own affairs to do it.

Mr. Akeley, of the great Museum of Natural History, comes back from Central Africa with the skins of five gorillas. The biggest weighed 360 pounds, measured sixty inches around the chest.

Dr. Akeley surprises everybody, saying gorillas don't fight. They won't run if they can. Strong enough to tear a man in two, feared by other beasts because of their strength, they run away and hide.

Perhaps that explains why they have remained gorillas. If they had been quarrelsome, had fought other animals and been attacked, they would have been compelled to THINK. And thinking, they might have gone upward. Nothing is more dangerous to man or gorilla than timid contentment.

Sometimes it pays to move around, travel, see and investigate. And often it pays to stay in the one spot, and get everything to be got out of that.

Thirty-seven years ago William E. Knox, young, inexperienced, went to work for the big Bowery Savings Bank in New York. It then had forty millions of deposits, one hundred thousand depositors. Now it has one hundred and sixty-four millions on deposit, five hundred and sixty thousand depositors. And William E. Knox has just been made president of the whole business.

When he went to work in that concern thirty-seven years ago he made up his mind that what he wanted was right there, and that he would stay and get it. He did so. This may interest young gentlemen constantly on the lookout for an opportunity to change.

Bill Haywood has obtained big concessions from the Russian Soviet Government. He will work coal mines and factories nearby, and has unlimited to import into Russia about five thousand American workers.

Will Mr. Haywood now become a rich man, a capitalist on his own account? It will be done, you will be interested to the effect that this will have on the rugged "friend of the people." And Mr. Haywood will himself be very much interested in the effect.

A thousand men can stand poverty unchanged for one able to stand the influence of wealth.

The allies are trying to get thirty-five billions of dollars in gold out of Germany. The thing is impossible, and they know it, but they have ingenious ideas.

Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the British exchequer, suggests that a partial solution would be to have the United States pay one-third—a little more than ten billions of dollars—of the amount to the allies. It would distribute the American gold in Europe and "ease up the situation," says he. So it would. How does the idea impress you?

The Governor in a province of the Argentine was murdered, and the criminal cut off the lobe of one ear.

A number of suspected men were arrested. One of them was attacked, and was found with the lobe of his ear cut off, in revenge by friends of the dead man, apparently. "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" was preached religiously in the old days. But it shocks you when you see it happening in real life. What was once much admired we could not stand. Think of the lady the drove a nail into the brain of a sleeping man, whom she had beguiled. We'd think little of her now.

DESCRIBES LAST DAY OF SLAIN HUSBAND

Mrs. Johnson and Wife of Defendant Meet in Dedham Courthouse

Mrs. Eva Johnson, widow of John Johnson, West Quincy laborer, for whose murder Caleb Loring Cunningham, wealthy Milton farmer, is on trial for life in the Dedham Superior Court, broke down on the witness stand today and had to be assisted from the courtroom.

She recovered her composure after a few minutes and was later able to complete her story.

TWO WOMEN MEET.

A dramatic little incident occurred just before opening of court when Mrs. Cunningham, obviously bowed with grief, paused and extended a hand toward the other, the latter promptly took the hand and held it for the space of a moment or two.

Both women smiled a bit faintly, exchanged a few words that none of the spectators caught and then passed on in opposite directions.

Mrs. Johnson, dressed in mourning, was a pathetic figure as she took the stand as the first witness for the government.

She was questioned by Assistant District Attorney George F. Adams, who is conducting the prosecution.

Detroit, March 15.—Five men were in police custody today as a result of a public liquor auction in Lenox avenue last night. More than 100 quarts of liquor were confiscated when the officers scattered several score of the bidders. Few provisions for secrecy had been made, the auctioneer standing on the footboard of an automobile in which the liquor was transported. Lively bidding was in progress when the police interrupted the sale, they reported.

TINY LOST GIRL HALTS BEACON STREET RUSH

Police Give Her Candy and Flowers While They Try to Find Her Address

A wee little slip of a girl, with a big bow surmounting her luxuriant tangle of black locks, tied up downtown traffic caused a virtual suspension of work in office buildings surrounding the Suffolk County courthouse and gave certain members of the Boston police force no end of worry today—and all because she couldn't tell where she lived.

She was tiny, very tiny—certainly not more than two and one-half years old.

She was first seen standing in the centre of the thoroughfare on Somerset and Beacon streets. One arm reaching to an automobile "stop" sign in the other hand she clutched a piece of string, from which trailed a pasteboard "wagon."

TRAFFIC IS HELD UP.

Two attorneys, bound for the courthouse on weighty legal matters, stopped her first. They walked out to question her.

No answer came to their questionings. The little miss eyed them sombrely, and remained dumb.

A couple of stenographers, en route to lunch, joined the attorneys and asked the little lady where her home was and what she was doing so far away from it. Still no answer.

More stenographers joined the group. Business men followed suit. The miss, apparently weary of their company, sought escape by scurrying towards the curb—and missed being run down by a five-ton de-

FULLER ON STAND IN SUIT

Admits Statements Attributed to Him by Warner, Who Asks $100,000

Taunton, March 15.—Lieutenant-Governor Alvan T. Fuller took the stand today in his own defence at the hearing on the $100,000 slander suit brought against him by former Speaker of the House Joseph E. Warner.

Fuller, under direct examination by his attorney, John W. Cummings, admitted having made all the statements attributed to him by Warner as the basis for the suit.

He told of the various meetings at which he had publicly charged Warner with being the law partner of Harold P. Holloway of Taunton, and with having shared fees with Holloway for legislative work done by that attorney.

The Lieutenant-Governor said he is forty years old and has been at work for himself since he was seventeen. He said he entered the automobile business when he was twenty-one, and that he now lives in Malden and has a home on Beacon street, Boston.

He told of his visit to Taunton, while on his way to deliver an address at Duff's Hall, New Bedford, at the opening of his campaign for Lieutenant-Governor, and of calling upon Holloway at the office of Holloway & Warner, attorneys at law.

Under the guidance of Attorney Cummings he described the dramatic meeting between himself and Warner at an open air meeting on Main street during the campaign. Between three and four hundred persons were then present, he explained. He arrived late and after making arrangements with the chairman for delivering his address, had walked for a time among the audience.

FOUND UNDER TREE

He described how he found Warner, standing under a tree, the lower half of his face hidden by a handkerchief, and how, later, when he came to speak, he had moved Warner to the platform and seated him between fifteen or twenty dignitaries.

"I fairly rained questions on him," said the witness, "but he answered none of them.

"Those questions, the witness explained, dealt with the allegation that Warner was Holloway's partner, that he shared fees Holloway received for appearances before legislative committees and similar matters.

After leaving the platform Fuller said, he heard Warner say to the chairman:

"Does he want to ask any more questions?"

"I went back to the platform and told him that I did want to ask some more questions for the time being declined to allow me any more time," said Fuller.

Fuller also admitted sending an

SUSPECT IS HELD AS FIREBUG

Arrested in Probe of Blaze That Burned Whole Block and Threatened District

Chicago, March 15 (By International News Service).—Evidence of incendiarism was found today by the authorities investigating the fire which wiped out an entire block of buildings in the Union Depot business district today, reducing great structures to gaunt skeletons and causing damage estimated at $10,000,000.

One man was killed and scores injured.

It was the greatest Chicago fire since the conflagration of 1871.

Frank Contillo, alias Frank Carey, a former employe of a confectionery concern in the building where the fire started was arrested and authorities indicated that startling disclosures would follow.

Contillo was taken into custody by Fire Marshal Shirley T. High after Harry P. Schiff, president of Schaffer & Company, where the fire started, told that the man had threatened him.

"I have evidence which shows conclusively that the fire was of incendiary origin," said the fire marshal.

Starting almost in the heart of the city, the fire menaced a district including some of Chicago's greatest railway terminals, warehouses and office buildings.

The fire occurred in the district just west of the Chicago river, near the Union Depot, one of Chicago's most famous railway stations. It centres in the block bounded by Jackson, Clinton, Canal and Van Buren streets, but swept over adjoining squares.

FIREMAN KILLED

James J. McGovern, a fireman, was killed when a rod hot steel struck him, a collapsing elevated railway bridge pinned him beneath it. Several others were injured and although a number were taken to hospitals, none is believed seriously hurt.

For several hours the fire defied control, and more than half of Chicago's fire fighting forces and equipment was called out.

The biggest building destroyed was the sixteen-story Chicago, Burlington & Quincy building in South Clinton street, one of the most modern buildings in the city. The fourteen-story Austin building, the ten-story Atlantic building and a number of smaller structures in the path of the flames are a total loss.

Approximately a block of the superstructure in the Metropolitan Elevated Railway, serving the crowded residential districts of the West Side, was burned down. As a result, officials of the company were faced with a serious problem this morning in bringing people to work.

Thousands were here, and it probably will be several days before traffic conditions are normal.

The burning of the elevated structure added to the danger as fiery embers, carried by the wind, fell on the roofs of surrounding structures and ignited them.

Fallen electric wires and heavily charged third rails fell to the ground, endangering firemen and others.

The property loss, though not large, was considered almost immaterial as the rapid spread of the flames and the toppling walls constituted a serious and constant danger.

The fire started, according to the latest information available, in the basement of the Congo Launch & Dredge Company on the second floor of a building at No. 521 West Jackson boulevard.

It spread rapidly to adjoining buildings, and in one was the Austin building, a six-story structure, to which the Congo company belongs. Its machine tools, were stored in the basement of the building.

The material included highly inflammable cutting oils. They fed on the conflagration and quickly set fire to the upper floors.

Expect 300 Million Less Income and Profit Tax

Washington, March 15.—Treasury officials expected the governmental receipts of income and profits taxes for today to show a decrease of more than $300,000,000 from the collections made during March of last year.

While the shrinkage in business and profits during the calendar year 1921, Secretary Mellon said today, makes the figure somewhat uncertain, official estimate that the first installment of taxes on incomes and profits for the year will amount to $1,600,000,000, as compared with $727,000,000 received from the first installment of the 1920 taxes.

PERRY'S WIFE IS WITNESS FOR DEFENCE

Says He Bought Auto in Case Several Weeks Before Alleged Theft

Mrs. Florence Perry of Somerville, wife of Attorney George T. Perry, took the witness stand in East Cambridge Superior Court today in defense of her husband during the course of his trial on conspiracy charges in connection with the alleged Middlesex County "auto ring."

With Mrs. Perry appeared Mrs. Mckay Riley and her husband, William Riley, sister and brother-in-law of the defendant, and Charles J. Ellis, a neighbor.

All testified that the car which was displayed to the jury as one which was stolen from a Boston garage in August, 1917, and which found its way into Perry's hands, was purchased by him in July of that year, several weeks before the alleged theft took place.

On trial with Perry are John M. Parry of Winthrop and Daniel K. Collamore of Melrose Highlands.

NATION-WIDE MILL STRIKE IS MENACE

Warning by Textile Union Head Follows R. I. Conference With Gompers

Providence, March 15.—A nation-wide strike, involving all belonging to the American Federation of Labor employed in the textile industry, will be called unless Rhode Island mill owners abandon their attempt to enforce a 20 per cent. wage cut and a 54-hour working week.

This announcement was made here by Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, after several conferences with Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

There is only one thing in the way of a settlement, McMahon said, and that is the claim of the mill owners that they cannot compete with Southern labor.

McMahon contends that there is no such thing as competition Southern labor, as the Northern cotton manufacturers, such as the Jenckes Spinning Company and the B. E. & R. Knight Company, the largest mill corporations in the State, own their own mills in the Southern States and, therefore, do not compete against any one, they are competing against themselves.

"Our fight is won," said McMahon, "and we do not care what the manufacturers do."

Seek Monument for Man Slain in Strike Riot

Pawtucket, R. I., March 15.—The Reedmakers' Union has started a movement to erect a monument to the memory of Jose Assuncao, the Portuguese national who was killed in the strike riot in this city on February 21. Other labor unions, as well as the Portuguese residents, will be asked to contribute to the fund.

No attempt was made today to test the order of Sheriff Jonathan Andrews against mass picketing at the mill gates. A few pickets appeared at most of the factories, and they reported no change in working conditions there. The labor leaders intended to have a conference today with the sheriff on the question of picketing.

Textile Workers Meet Saturday in Boston

Providence, March 15.—Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, who returned today from accompanying President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor on his tour of New England textile cities, announced that a meeting of the emergency board of the International United Textile Workers will be held in Boston at 11 a. m. Saturday.

McMahon refused to say for what purpose the meeting was called, except that it was to consider matters which had a bearing on the textile strike in Rhode Island and other centres.

SAYS ROULETTE GAMES WERE CROOKED

Providence, March 15.—Rhode Island gambling houses use crooked roulette wheels, Edward T. Bannon, New Bedford attorney, says in a declaration filed in the United States Court in his suit against six men to recover $400,000 he alleges he lost in their places.

The defendants are August Schaller and Jacob Vogel of the Updike Hotel, East Greenwich; Frank E. Murray and James Moran of the Hill Top Inn, East Greenwich; Charles T. Manchester, Jr., of Auburn Cranston, and John F. Hennessey of East Providence.

Bannon, in the preliminaries of the suit, which promises a sensation in Rhode Island, caused United States marshals to serve writs on local banks attaching $100,000 of the funds of Hennessey, $100,000 the bank credits of Murray and $75,000 each of the funds of Schaller, Moran, Vogel and Manchester.

Mr. Bannon alleges he visited the places of the defendants and wagered and lost considerable sums of money.

"I believed, and the defendants and their agents represented, that the game of roulette as operated by them was one of chance or luck, but that in fact said game as operated by the defendants was not one of chance but was entirely in the control of the defendants," Bannon says.

TO EXTRADITE BROKERS WANTED IN CASE HERE

District Attorney Thomas H. O'Brien today received from District Attorney Fred E. Weeks of Westchester County, New York, a telegram announcing that the Governor of the Empire State has issued a warrant for the extradition of William J. and Joseph McLaughlin, Boston stock brokers, wanted here to face a charge of larceny of $4,000 from G. He will be sentenced Monday. Thompson was arrested in England by Captain Ainslee C. Armstrong of the Boston Detective Bureau. He had a hard fight in the English courts to avoid extradition, but failed.

PURITAN, CONTENDER FOR FISHING CUP, LAUNCHED

The new fishing schooner, Puritan, another probable contender for the International Fishermen's trophy next Fall, was launched today at James' Yard, Essex. The vessel is owned by the Manta Club of Gloucester. After the launching she was towed to Gloucester to be rigged and fitted. She will engage in halibut fishing under the command of Captain Benjamin Pine.

LAST WAR RESTRICTION TAKEN FROM CURRENCY

Washington, March 15.—Issuance of gold certificates without demand, discontinued in 1917, was restored today by the Treasury. This was said by Treasury officials to remove the last artificial currency situation growing out of the war. The Treasury holds approximately $3,000,000,000 in gold.

CHARGE DRUG LED TO STORY OF ROBBERY

An expensively garbed, bobbed-haired girl of unusual beauty admitted in Municipal Court today that she "took a sniff or jab with the needle and then—"

She was Martha Slater of Atlantic avenue, Beachmont.

She was testifying against Bertha Steller and Daniel J. Diggin, charged with assaulting her and attempting to commit robbery.

Diggin, Miss Steller and Mrs. Mary Weatherbee of Allston said Miss Slater broke up a quiet dinner party when, following an injection of morphine into her arm, she stood up and shouted that she was being robbed.

A policeman entered the private dining room the four were occupying and made the arrests.

No probable cause was found against Diggin and the Steller girl, and they were discharged.

SHOVELS BONDS IN STOVE AT STATION

Winchester, Va., March 15.—The corner of a Liberty bond protruding from the door of the stove into which he was shoveling coal led to the discovery by R. A. Mitchell said he had been scooping up "papers" with the coal for several days.

livery truck by a matter of inches.

People in offices came to the windows to look out. Traffic stopped. A motherly woman took the child by the hand and started for police headquarters.

At headquarters Patrolman Paul Crowley was delegated to take the little girl down to the City Hall news station. And his troubles dated from that moment.

She protested loudly against the trip. Heads protruded from windows to watch the process. Crowley managed to pacify the girl finally by giving her a green St. Patrick's Day flower and a bag of candy.

She finally became quiet on a stool in the waiting room, munching candy and watching the officers play checkers.

ELECTORATE TO VOTE ON CONSTITUTION FIRST

London, March 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Asked in the House of Commons whether the constitution of the Irish Free State, when drafted by the provisional government, would be immediately submitted to the British Parliament for approval and, if necessary, for amendment before the Irish electorate votes on it, Winston Spencer Churchill, the Colonial Secretary, today replied:

"No. The constitution must necessarily be submitted to Parliament before the Free State is established, but I cannot undertake that it will be so submitted before it is submitted to the Irish electorate."

nate than 200 letters containing substance of the statements to which Warner objected.

BREWERY NOT CALLED.

Not a little excitement was caused in the court today when it became known that a secret representation of brewery interests had been summoned by Fuller.

They are expected to be called today regarding the charge made by Fuller that Attorney Harold F. Hathaway had been retained by special interests to obtain through Warner the appointment on special committees, especially that on Legislative, of members of the House favorable to legislation providing for the restoration of 4 per cent. beer.

It was charged by Fuller that Hathaway did procure such appointments by aid of Warner and that the former speaker shared in the fees paid for this work.

Much comment was caused by the presence of James Connolly of Fall River, said to be proprietor of the Hill Top Inn, East Greenwich, R. I. It was reported that Connolly would be called by Fuller to combat the evidence given by character witnesses called by Warner.

INTRODUCES CHECKS.

Attorney John W. Cummings, for Fuller, put into the record two checks, both for $100, and made out to Hathaway by the Taunton Print Works & Bleachery Company and the Taunton Web and Stock Company, in payment of bills rendered by Hathaway for "consultations with Senator Heal and with members of the Committee on Public Health, expenses and disbursements and appearances before other committees." These bills were dated July 5, 1920, and the checks dated July 13, 1920.

Although the defence formally opened yesterday when the testimony of former Representative Edward Carr was taken as a matter of convenience to him, the opening address was not made until today, when Attorney Cummings spoke for more than an hour to the jury.

He said "Fuller always has known that he made the statements Warner charges him with having made and never has disavowed them."

Fuller's counsel announced that Harold F. Hathaway, the Taunton attorney whose partner Warner is accused of having been, would be called to the stand to testify for Fuller.

FIREWORKS EXPECTED.

Hathaway is reputed to be one of the hardest fighters of the Fall River bar and his presence on the stand is expected to be provocative of fireworks.

"Fuller will say when he takes the stand, 'Yes, I made the statements Warner says I made,'" said Cummings. "The Lieutenant-Governor is not shrinking or shirking responsibility for his charges. He avowed these charges to Warner's own face and now has disavowed them.

"Fuller did not conceal himself behind someone else. He will tell you just what he did and what he said. He faced the grand jury sworn in the State when he attacked Warner, the State Treasurer, the President of the State Senate and the Speaker of the House."

Cummings said that Attorney William F. Garcelon of Boston and a member of the Arkwright Club would appear before the jury to tell of the introduction of Hathaway to him by Warner.

"We will also show that the day after Fuller's statement that the politician, Charles Bird, and Richard M. Washburn were reviving a matter dropped by Warner, this suit was begun and let you draw your own deductions."

MALDEN JUDGE BANS POLICE AID FOR DRY RAIDS

Declares They Have No Legal Right to Assist Federal Officers

Federal prohibition officers operating within the jurisdiction of Malden Court will hereafter be obliged to do their sleuthing and raiding without the assistance of policemen in the five cities comprising the community.

Judge Bruce today issued orders to this effect in a statement addressed to the department chiefs: "Policemen of this district must not aid prohibition officers who come into this district to make search raids," said His Honor. "They are not supposed to do it, and they have no legal right to do it. The law specifies that all liquor warrants shall be served by officers to whom they are issued, and by nobody else.

"I don't want the police of this district to even list the prohibition officers use their patrol wagons to carry seized goods. I want them to let the prohibition agents conduct every detail of their own raids by themselves. Policemen who help them out will only be getting themselves into trouble.

"In regard to any raids made by the local police we will attend to these ourselves. I believe we can do this more effectively."

The judge referred to a recent decision of Judge Carroll of the Superior Court in dismissing a man held for the Federal authorities by Judge Stone of the Cambridge Police Court.

He pointed to this decision as proof that local police departments have no right to assist in raids conducted by Federal agents.

CAMBRIDGE MAN WINS FIGHT ON GAS METER

A humble citizen whipped a big gas corporation today. R. W. Healy had a prepayment meter in his home at No. 44 Coggswell street, Cambridge. The Cambridge Gas Light Company tried to take it out. Healy blocked them. Then they sent a sheriff and a bill of $5 to Healy, saying that unless he paid the $5 he wouldn't get another meter. Healy took the case to the State Department of Public Utilities which ordered the company to give Healy a meter and also pay the $5.

Crowley of Brookline, who claims commission on stock sales Crowley made for the company. Governor Cox will shortly ask the Legislature for another appropriation of $50,000 to provide work for the unemployed. Luke Shields said the Legion would provide work for the unemployed wherever possible.

CURIOUS CAT PUTS MALDEN IN DARKNESS

Curiosity has killed another cat, and employes of the Malden Electric Light Company now know why the cat's nine lives were half an hour last night. Today the mystery was solved by discovery of the charred body of a cat at the foot of a pole. The cat climbed the pole, felt the error is not shrinking or shirking responsibility for his charges. He avowed these charges to Warner's own face and now has disavowed them.

"Fuller did not conceal himself behind someone else. He will tell you just what he did and what he said. He faced the grand jury sworn in the State when he attacked Warner, the State Treasurer, the President of the State Senate and the Speaker of the House."

Cummings said that Attorney William F. Garcelon of Boston and a member of the Arkwright Club would appear before the jury to tell of the introduction of Hathaway to him by Warner.

"We will also show that the day after Fuller's statement that the politician, Charles Bird, and Richard M. Washburn were reviving a matter dropped by Warner, this suit was begun and let you draw your own deductions."

HENRY LONG WOULD TAX LEGACIES TO CHARITIES

State Commissioner Henry F. Long today declared the State ought to impose a tax upon legacies left for charitable purposes. "The people of this State," he said, "are certainly ready for a tax on a big fortune made in this State which is finally left by its owner to Christianize the Africans or to teach Patagonians to eat pancakes.

WHISKEY CURE FOR 'FLU' STIRS OPTOMETRISTS' CONVENTION

DISCUSSED BY EYE DOCTORS

That whiskey is the only cure for the "flu," that seven out of ten persons should be wearing glasses, that optometrists sell service and not glasses, and that the color of typewriters is all wrong—they should be lattleship-gray or cream color—were the highlights brought out at the New England Optometric Convention in the American House today.

Whiskey, bourbon, corn or rye, may or may not be the only cure for the "flu," but Dr. F. H. Howard, of Missouri College of Optometry believes it is.

"But that is only a side issue and is not concerned with saving eyesight," said Dr. George S. Houlahan, president of the Massachusetts State Society of Optometrists, commenting on Dr. Howard's remark. "That is only a facetious remark, not to be taken too seriously."

ANTI-MEDICAL.

"Dr. Howard is a medical man," commented Dr. J. S. O'Neal, a convention member. "We optometrists are anti-medical. Since all doctors of medicine do not agree on the subject of whiskey in its relation to the 'flu,' why should we try to settle the question? It is an issue which must and will be settled very soon."

"Constant use of the eyes at close range and almost constant exposure to glare from street, sidewalk, or building, or from high powered electric lights, all expose the eyes to terrific strain," said Dr. Reginald C. Augustine, president of the Illinois State School Board Association.

"Three people out of every ten in America wear glasses. Seven out of every ten should be wearing them.

"Black typewriters are bad for the eyes. Tests made on various machines show that a neutral color, as cream or battleship gray, would eliminate the glaring contrast between the black-painted typewriter and the white paper."

CAUSED BAD WRECK.

"A few months ago, a terrible railroad wreck occurred at Porter, Ind., two express trains in which hundreds of passengers, crashed together. At the coroner's inquest, it was learned that the engineer at first had defective vision, it being found that he had depended upon his fireman to read his signals to him.

"As his train was approaching Porter, the cause of the wreck, he called for the fireman to read the signal. The fireman was just put in a fire and was not sufficiently afflicted with 'shot is known as 'fireman's itch,' he was unable to read the semaphore accurately and the awful crash resulted with a death toll of 43 lives, 100 persons ill, and large property loss.

"A skilled leather cutter or blind of machinist would be a drag on the labor market — no employer would want him, but there are hundreds of thousands of half-blind and quarter-blind industrial workers who grope around in twilight and daylight hazard to themselves and to their fellow workmen.

"Men with defective eyes are more subject to injuries in industrial life than are those with keen vision. A large proportion of our factory workers have defective vision.

SIGNS IN CHILDREN.

Dr. Augustine brought to the attention of his hearers certain indications of defective vision in children, whether or not any child may be suffering from some form of eye-strain. These are:

First, a Headache—Most headaches are caused from some defect of vision and readily yield to relief when the eyes are scientifically glassed.

Second, Habit—Many times children sit with their heads tilted to one side, thus affording a bit of relief to some certain muscle of the eye moves the eye as it rotes about. This tilting finger of her right hand was cross-t.

The court will have to say which seems to be the opinion, said the facts correctly regarding the pianist's important finger.

PLAN FOR REDUCING GERMAN INDEMNITY

London, March 15 (By International News Service).—Sir Robert Horne has presented a German debt plan to the allied finance ministers which calls for reducing the total German indemnity from 132,000,000,000 gold marks to 50,000,000,000. It is understood the British and Italians are in agreement on it. The plan provides for the cancellation of all inter-allied indebtedness, totalling sixty-five billion gold marks; therefore it requires America's consent to become effective.

SISTER OF STAR TAKES STAND AGAINST HER

Says Mrs. Powell's Little Finger Was Crooked for "Years and Years"

New York, March 15 (By International News Service).—Mrs. Alma Webster Powell, pianist and concert singer, on leaving the New York Central Railroad for $25,000 for injuries sustained in a wreck today, had the unique experience of sitting in Brooklyn Supreme Court and hearing her sister, Mrs. Celia Plotence Bendelari, testify against her.

Mrs. Bendelari testified that her crooked little finger on the right hand was one of the results of the wreck.

Mrs. Bendelari calmly stated that Mrs. Powell had suffered from rheumatism for "years and years," and added, upon being questioned, that the little finger of her right hand was crooked.

The court will have to say which seems to be the opinion, said the facts correctly regarding the pianist's important finger.

MOVIES OFFER TO BACK HUNT FOR MONSTER

Prof. Onelli Says Expedition Will Start Next Week for Lake of Edentates

Buenos Aires, March 15 (By the Associated Press). — It was not a pleasantries that was seen swimming in an Andean lake recently, but probably a descendant either of the horse-nailed glyptodon or of the megatherium, in the opinion of Professor Onelli, director of the Buenos Aires Zoo.

Professor Onelli said he had been obliged to postpone the start of the expedition for another week, as a total of 7,000 pesos was needed, of which 3,000 were lacking.

While a motion picture concern had offered to pay the entire expenses of the expedition in return for the exclusive right to film the capture of the animal, Professor Onelli preferred to finance it himself by popular subscription.

Responding to inquiries about the supposed pleiosaurus, Professor Onelli said:

"The pleiosaurus is a pseudonym the newspapers have given it and which has stuck, but I believe it is a huge animal of the edentate family, of which ancient remains, not fossil, were found in Patagonia in 1897 and one of which was fired upon and hit by the explorer Ramon Lista in 1899 without hurting it.

He explained that, while the pleiosaurus dates back ten million years, the edentates, such as the glyptodon and megatherium belonged to the quaternary era of only a million years ago.

The glyptodon was a creature resembling the armadillo, and which attained the size of an ox. It had strong limbs with short, broad feet.

The megatherium was a gigantic, shaggy edentate from eighteen to twenty feet in length. It had a short neck, teeth long and powerful, and a hind legs. With its strong, prehensile tongue it tore from trees and shrubs the leaves and twigs upon which is subsisted.

Hyannis Discovery of "Fish With Neck" Recalled

Plymouth, March 15.—Scientists believe that if the expedition into western Patagonia results in the discovery of an undoubted specimen to clear up the identity of a submarine creature, with a periscope neck reaching far above the water, which was found dead in Mill Creek, near Hyannis, in the summer of 1817.

Cape Cod folks who saw the strange "sea giraffe" in the creek believe it was a young one which became frozen in polar ice at some remote period, drifted down the coast in an iceberg and finally brought up in Mill Creek.

The bones of the supposed sea serpent were taken to the United States Fisheries Station at Woods Hole. Later Cape Cod inquirers were told that the creature was some kind of a shark. "Ye ever heard of a fish having a neck?" was the caustic comment of old seafarers.

GLOTZBACH OFF ON BUSINESS, SAYS DIVA

Is Still the 100 Per Cent. Man He Was When They Wed, Matzenauer Declares

By Associated Press.

Joplin, Mo., March 15.—For a woman who just had been informed that her husband had deserted her, Margarete Matzenauer famous opera singer, was in a delightful light hearted mood, when seen by newspaper men at her suite in a hotel here.

She said between ripples of laughter: "Mr. husband is in Montreal on business. When he left New York, he kissed me good by, and I bade him godspeed. There was no swearing at all.

Her attention was called to that part of an interview in which her husband refers to taking his breakfast in bed.

"Why, can you imagine a big, six foot, perfect specimen of man food taking his breakfast in bed? He never had his breakfast in bed in his life. He's not that kind of a man, and he never asked for such a thing. I would chase him out of the house.

DRIVES HIMSELF.

"No man would express himself as Mr. Glotzbach is credited with expressing himself in the interview. It sounds more like a three-year old child.

"How about squirming in mental anguish on the rear seat cushions?" she was asked.

"Never since we have been married has he done that. I bought him a high priced car with an inside drive because he insisted that he drive himself and he has had that wish granted every time we go out. He never gets in the other car, which is driven by our chauffeur, and is used mainly to take my little son to school.

The San Francisco dispatch said her husband asserted that "Sapphire with thrive on bad bonds, but wild mustard needs the California sun."

STILL 100 PER CENT.

"I guess that means that I am an optimist, the dear laughed, and I feel quite complimented.

"In regard to my husband get ting 'hold of the mail and opening it, I never sang that in my life for I'd be the last nobody'd want to.

"When I married Mr. Glotzbach Miss Matzenauer concluded, "I said that I should not cease to sing, and so far I have never had reason to vary from that statement.

"My husband is not the man who could fail utterly, though he enjoys money, for if he has had a change in the last two weeks he is still the 100 per cent man I said he was when I married him."

Separation Permanent Says 100 Per Cent. Husband

By International News Service.

Belmonte, Cal., March 15.—"A permanent one as far as I am concerned."

With an air of finality, Fred Glotzbach, chauffeur husband of Mme. Margarete Matzenauer, today announced the "subject of separation from his wife, famous Metropolitan grand opera star.

"That is for the curtain," he added.

"If you are going to be a grand opera star you must learn to live on skimmed milk and applause," said Fred Glotzbach after his divorce. "I want to do is something you would not do because it will interfere with your high temperament."

Glotzbach, a young giant, paid the $1 marriage fee of Mme. Matzenauer and threatened to thrash any man who "dominates any effections she may have for me."

GILLETT HOLDS KEY IN BONUS SITUATION

Speaker of House Reported to Have Conferred With President

St. Augustine, Fla., March 15.—Associates of President Harding do not doubt that he will veto the bonus bill if it is passed by the House.

News of the Ways and Means Committee reporting out the bill by a majority of 10 to 5, in face of the ship-subsidy vetoed by Chairman Mellon and Harding, the government's fiscal authorities, was communicated to the President when he reached here, but no comment was forthcoming.

The impression prevails that President Harding and Speaker Gillett, who is a member of his party, have had some conversations about the situation. It is believed possible the Speaker may throw a monkey wrench into the plans of Chairman Fordney to obtain a special rule in the House under which the bonus bill may be rushed through to completion.

TREATY CAUSES ROW AMONG DEMOCRATS

Underwood May Be Ousted as Leader After Voting on Four-Power Pact

By International News Service.

Washington, March 15.—Grievous dissension among Democratic Senators split on the Four-power Pacific treaty, was reported today to be causing a serious friction in the higher councils of the Democratic party, which threatened to lead to another fight for national control between the pro-Wilson and anti-Wilson forces.

With Senator Oscar W. Underwood and William Jennings Bryan pulling for the treaty, and Democratic leaders still counted as adherents of former President Wilson pulling against it, the ill feeling already engendered between the opposing forces was said to be spreading far beyond the Senate chamber.

DANIELS IN FIGHT.

Several influential Democratic Senators like Harrison of Mississippi, were known to be deprecating the stricture leveled by the latter ex-Democratic leader at Senator Underwood by many of his own colleagues. They were understood to be doubtful of the probable effect on the approaching congressional campaign of Democrats fighting under Democratic over a treaty proposed by a Republican administration.

Underwood is expected to hold enough Democratic Senators in line to assist the Republican majority to ratify the treaty, but once the adjournment conference is out of the way it is considered not improbable that a concerted move will be made on the Democratic side to remove from the Alabaman the leadership, the loss of which most of his colleagues now profess to deplore.

The known activities of Bernard M. Baruch, former Secretary of the Navy Daniels and other prominent Democrats against the treaty, since the treaty fight broke have been asserted by Wall Street, to which quarter they considered leadership against the four power pact itself.

NO VOTE IN SIGHT.

That the issues raised by the treaty fight will be carried by the Democrats themselves to the polls next year was believed to be inevitable.

Resumption of the debate on the treaty in the Senate today found both sides still talking over with little prospect of an immediate vote on ratification and much progress. It understood having in still hand the power of the cloture rule, the treaty for at least several days to come.

BRITISH DRIVE REBELS FROM FORDSBURG

Artillery, Tanks and Planes Used; Many Prisoners Are Taken

Johannesburg, March 15 (By the Associated Press.—Advices from Pretoria report that government infantry was clearing the streets following the capture of the town from the rebels. Many prisoners had been taken, and the remainder were retiring on the Langlaagte River.

Prior to the bombardment of the town leaflets were dropped by aeroplanes warning the women and children to leave. A steady stream of refugees preceded to a special camp outside the area of bombardment.

All sections of the disaffected area in South Africa are cleared of rebels except certain portions of the Johannesburg district, in the east and in the Lydenburg district, where considerable scattering centers of resistance.

Artillery, tanks and airplanes were used in the capture of Fordsburg, the rebel stronghold. They continued after seventy-five minutes of bombardment.

Although the houses in Fordsburg had been deserted by the men, only women and children being found in the government forces entered, because at the government troops approached, one of the snipers, apparently a woman, was shot, but when the body was recovered it was found to be that of a man in women's clothing. Women carrying white flags sheltered some of the rebels, while groups of children surrounded other rebels to facilitate their escape.

BONUS PETITION SIGNED BY DIST. ATTY. O'BRIEN

108,000 New Englanders Back Hearst Campaign to Aid Needy Veterans

District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien of Suffolk County signed the Boston American's soldiers' bonus petition. He is one of the latest New Englanders to affix his signature to the petition demanding speedy action by congress on the adjusted compensation bill.

The number of persons in New England who have signed the petition now totals 108,000.

While Congress "fiddles", hundreds of ex-service men walk the streets of Boston and other New England cities and towns in desperation. Unable to secure employment many of them are "up against it" to such an extent that they have been forced to beg for food and money to obtain shelter.

Scores of young men who served in France during our World War are huddled in cheap lodging houses in this city, miserably clad and wondering where their next meal is coming from. The speedy passage of the bonus act would be a great boon to these young men whose battle cries are at their lowest ebb.

Among those who have signed the petition being circulated by the Boston American are thousands of women. Public sentiment is strongly over the delay of Congress. If New England men and women could vote on the question tomorrow there would be recorded as overwhelmingly in favor of immediate passage of suitable bonus legislation.

SEE REBUKE TO LLOYD GEORGE IN MEETING

Failure of Unionists to Give Vote of Confidence Regardgarded as Blow to Premier

London, March 15 (By International News Service)—Despite the official report, given out after the meeting of the Unionist members of Parliament, which states that "there is no desire to end the coalition or withdraw support of the Union members," a portion of the press interprets the failure of the meeting to pass a resolution of confidence in the coalition as tantamount to a blow toward Lloyd George.

The Star says the government has been given notice to quit.

The Evening News comments: "It is a blow to the coalition."

BILLIE DOVE.

BILLIE DOVE VOTED FILM BEAUTY

Billie Dove, voted one of the prettiest of the two score film stars brought to Boston by Marcus Loew for the opening of the new State Theatre, was one of the beautiful girls who helped make the Metropolitan production of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" one of the biggest pictures of the year.

Miss Dove, whose original name is Lathon, but who is called Billie by all her friends is only nineteen years old, but she has already enjoyed an enviable career. She is a native New York girl, and attracted attention to her magazine cover loveliness as penned by famous artists.

At the age of sixteen she joined the "Ziegfeld Follies," and appeared for a couple of seasons in the "Midnight Frolic" on the Ziegfeld Roof. Her debut as a film star was made with Robertson Cole in "At the Stage Door."

MEN RUINED BY WOMEN'S GREED SAYS JUDGE

"Wives and Girls Do Not Care Where Money for Furs and Gems Comes From"

New York, March 15.—Modern women's greed for furs and jewels is leading men astray, County Judge Daniel D. Gibbs said when he gave a suspended sentence to Saul Zukor, charged with having received stolen goods. Mrs. Zukor was in court clad in furs and diamonds.

"Modern women, I might say the majority of them, are using the dollar mark to steer their husbands into crime in these days of furs and diamonds," declared the judge. "Wives and daughters do not stop to ask their husbands or fathers where the dollar comes from. It makes no difference to them."

OVATION FOR RUFFO WITH APOLLO CLUB

Crowded House Enjoys 50th Anniversary Concert of Organization

The Apollo Club celebrated its golden anniversary concert last night at Symphony Hall to a crowded house. Under the splendid direction of Mr. Mollenhauer, and with the assistance of Titta Ruffo, they managed to give the most successful concert that is possible for an organization of this sort to achieve.

The men were in splendid form and sang with such a degree of enthusiasm and skill that almost half of the programme numbers had to be repeated in full. However, both the director and the club seemed very happy to do this from time to time.

The program included "Hie, Sleep No More," H. J. Stewart; "Beatitude Night," from the "Meistersinger"; "Laudate Dominum," by Converse; the Brahms Lullaby, "Gentle Friend Pierrot," Leoncavallo; "Sword Bound Trust," Henry Hadley, and the old elders' choice from Faust, Gounod.

All of the pleasing numbers were by the club.

That Ruffo—what can one say of him except that there is no one like him on the concert stage today. Who else is there, who has the gift of holding in the palm of his hand an audience to amuse them or to stir at their heart strings, as he will? Who can so perfectly bring to mind the perfect picture of the opera from which he happens to be singing an aria? Such applause as resounded from the audience and from the stage on the stage is accorded to few artists of today.

All of his songs were juicy, but the Toreador song from "Carmen" and the famous aria from "The Barber of Seville" brought the house to a chorus of "bravos" that do not fill Symphony Hall on many occasions.

LADY ALICE WHITE KILLED BY BLOW

London, March 15 (By the Associated Press)—Lady Alice Whiting, who was found unconscious in her room in a London hotel yesterday morning, died this morning. A burglar is believed to have inflicted the fatal injury, a fracture of the skull. Morning newspapers say that Lady Alice remained her faculties for a brief period. She asserted that a burglar entered her room through a window and struck her. A woman occupying an adjoining room told the police of hearing a shriek after Lady Alice retired Monday evening, but she did not know whether it came from the hotel or the street.

FIGHTS REPEAL OF MINIMUM WAGE LAW

Industry Unabel to 15½ Cets. an Hour Should Quit, Says Prof. Frankfurter

Professor Felix Frankfurter of Harvard today declared any industry which cannot pay its workers 15½ cents an hour ought to close its doors and go out of business.

"Such a business is nothing more or less than a parasite on society," said Professor Frankfurter in a vigorous speech before the Social Welfare Committee of the Legislature against the house bill to repeal the minimum wage law.

"Even at the rosiest estimate I had given as to the number of unskilled Irish laborers were unable to pay the minimum wage of 15½ cents an hour.

"The minimum wage law was enacted in the interest of Irish girls' labor. Because 12,485 women in industry were receiving less than $8 a week.

"Wages are low not because business cannot afford to pay more but because it is unorganized. They are kept low by exploitation of the workers."

Representative William S. Conroy of Fall River said the Fall River cotton mills last year had 33,000 per cent in dividends out of the sweat of the millhands and they now have dividends" to pay for.

It is expected that members of the society who for fifty years and more have longed for and worked for this will be present. Plans for the big annual banquet of St. Patrick's Day include as speakers: Congressman A. M. Richens of Michigan, Governor Channing H. Cox, Mayor James M. Curley and James T. Sullivan.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY

Sewing Circle Is Agog Over Three Coming Weddings

By BETTY ALDEN.

WITH no less than three fair members of the 1919 Sewing Circle busily preparing for their wedding day, there will be no end of conversational matter when that select coterie of girls meet for the "1919" luncheon today as guests of Miss Helen Rockwell.

This interesting event takes place at Miss Rockwell's home on Central avenue, Milton, with the Misses Louise B. Tyler, Frances Gibbes and Lucretia Churchill as assisting hostesses. Miss Margaret Coolidge was to have been hostess at her home in Dudley lane, Milton, but her absence necessitated a change of scene for the luncheon.

But to get back to the prospective brides and delightful whisperings which the announcement of their wedding plans has caused, especially in the group of girls with whom they have "grown up"—the first of the trio who will promise to "love, honor and obey" is Eleanor Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Abbott of Beacon street. The lucky man is Francis Bacon Lothrop, a Harvard '21, man, who lives with his mother, Mrs. William Sturgis Lothrop at No. 134 Beacon street. Young Lothrop is a member of the D. K. E. fraternity, the Institute of 1770, the S. K. and Porcellian Clubs. In 1919 and 1920 he rowed on the Harvard varsity crew, and last spring he did some splendid work on the Oxford eight. His war record is quite the equal of his collegiate, for he won the Italian War Cross because of his service with the American Ambulance on the Italian front.

I understand that Eleanor and her distinguished suitor have been busily shopping over in Gotham to complete the trousseau. The all important ceremonial which will transform Miss Abbott into the bride of young Lothrop is scheduled to take place on Easter Monday, April 17, at 4 o'clock, in Trinity Church, and it is safe to say that the entire social register of the social world will make their appearance at the house of worship on Copley square on that date.

Following fast upon the heels of the Abbott-Lothrop nuptials comes the no less important ceremonial which will transform Miss Roseanna Duncan Fiske into Mrs. Lloyd Bowen Sanderson, Jr. The ceremony will be performed at Christ Church, Cambridge, where Miss Fiske's mother, grandmother and great-grandmother were married. New York lays claim to an interest in this coming event, for the bridegroom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Sanderson of No. 52 East Sixty-seventh street. He is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1920, and holds membership in the Tennis and Racquet and Harvard Clubs of New York, as well as several others. Miss Fiske, who, like Miss Abbott, made her debut in 1920, is the daughter of the Charles H. Fiskes of Commonwealth avenue and the sister of Cornelia Fiske.

The third of the three "1919" girls who have announced their intentions of taking the all-important step is Miss Lillian Aldrich, daughter of Mrs. Charles Frost Aldrich of Beacon street and Dublin, N. H. Like her two fellow-debutantes, Miss Aldrich will marry a Harvard man, her fiance being John Gordon Winchester, a member of the senior class at the college across the Charles. The wedding, which is marked on the social calendar for June 3, is to have a country setting, for it will be solemnized at "Overwoods Farms," the Aldrich estate at Dublin.

The Aldrich-Winchester nuptials will add one more to the long, long list of Boston-New York alliances, for Mr. Winchester is the son of Mrs. Tarleton Winchester, whose home in Orchard is on Park avenue. Society remembers two such alliances taking place last October, the one when Miss Elizabeth St. John Whiting became the bride of Alex. Tomes of New York, and the other when Miss Isabel Goodwin, daughter of Mrs. William Goodwin, of Boston, was married to Lloyd McAlister of New York.

Apropos of Mrs. Charles Frost Aldrich, I hear that she has leased her Beacon street residence, No. 441, and has taken an apartment at No. 386 Commonwealth avenue for the remainder of the season. Junior A. Richards, a son of Mrs. Aldrich's by another marriage, and also Miss Beverly Richards and Miss Lillian Aldrich, the bride-to-be, are with their mother.

Betty Alden

Miss Eleanor Abbott, daughter of the Gordon Abbotts of Beacon Street, whose marriage to Francis Bacon Lothrop, scheduled for April 17, promises to be one of the most brilliant society events for that month. Miss Abbott is a member of the 1919 Sewing Circle, as well as of the Vincent and Brilliant clubs.

MISS ELEANOR ABBOTT

Random Notes of Society Folk in Town and Country

MRS. TARBANT P. KING of Milton and her daughter, Miss Dorothy King, are in New York for a few days, where they are stopping at the Hotel Lorraine.

Of great interest in Boston's social circles is the wedding of Miss Mary Cooley Amory and Arnold Welles Hunnewell, the ceremony taking place tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Margot Amory will be her sister's only attendant, and the wedding is to be very quiet, with only the relatives and more intimate friends present. There will be no reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dexter of Marlboro street are spending a few days in New York, where they are registered at the new Ambassador Hotel. At the same hotel, also from Boston, are Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Weeks of Commonwealth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Bayles of Marlboro street have recently joined the Boston colony at Hot Springs, Va., motored from that resort to Valley View for luncheon. With the Bayleys were Mr. and Mrs. William W. Fitler and Miss Rachel Fitler of Philadelphia.

Harold S. Vanderbilt, who spends his summers on the North Shore, has as house-guests at his Palm Beach villa on the South Ocean Boulevard, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Iselin, Frederick S. Allen and James Rhode.

Mrs. Alanson B. Houghton, wife of the American Ambassador to Germany, and A. B. Houghton, Jr., are registered at the Hotel Chatham, New York City.

Mrs. Margot Asquith, who has been with her son-in-law and daughter, the Prince and Princess Bibesco in Washington, has returned to her apartment at the Hotel Ambassador in New York. The writer of the famous "Diary" has been making her headquarters at the Ambassador ever since she came to New York about a month ago.

SHAWSHEEN IS THREATENED BY BLAZE

Fire in Unoccupied House Creates Scare at Wood's Model Village

Lawrence, March 15—Shawsheen Village, Andover, the ideal town created by William M. Wood, head of the American Woolen Company, and known as the "Utopia of New England villages," was threatened with destruction today when fire razed one of the largest houses in the community.

The blaze was in a two and one-half-story house formerly owned by the George E. Tore estate. The house was being remodeled for use of woolen company officials and was unoccupied.

The fire, the cause of which is undetermined, was discovered by the crew of a passing train. The engineer tooted an alarm and the South Lawrence fire department was called.

The deserted house was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived and sparks were menacing many of the other of artistically built houses nearby. The beautiful Wood home, "Arden," is a short distance away and a spacious fire guard was placed over the mansion while the blaze was in progress.

The firemen were aided in fighting the blaze by a number of villagers who organized a bucket brigade. Hose lines to battle the flames had to be laid a distance of 1,000 yards.

The damage was placed at $6,000.

It will be the second dividend to savings department depositors, the first dividend of 30 per cent. amounting to $7,500.

HUSBAND OF 13 WANTS TO BE EVANGELIST

"Marrying Moore" Eager to Warn Others of Too Much Matrimony

By International News Service.

Indianapolis, March 15. — Having left a trail of broken hearts across the continent in the wake of his numerous matrimonial ventures, Isaiah Moore, confessed "husband" of thirteen women, has determined to turn evangelist.

In his cell at the county jail where he awaits Grand Jury investigation into the charges of bigamy, embezzlement and grand larceny, "Marrying" Moore today made known his decision. He intends to "warn others," he says.

"My one desire is to lead a Christian life and to help others," said the man whose craving for feminine companionship led him into one marriage after another, without formality of divorce.

"I always wanted to enter the ministry," he declared, "but I know it won't have me. I will be an evangelist when I get out."

Congressman Peter F. Tague, Charlestown was named defendant in a suit filed today by the Corporation Finance Company, Inc., in the Superior Court, in which the company seeks to recover on a demand note he is alleged to have made to them. The note for $400 was signed by Tague in August, 1920. It is unsecured. The petition says the congressman has paid neither interest or principal.

WOUNDED VETS AWAIT MOVIE STARS IN VAIN

Spend Hours on Steps of the Parker Hill Hospital to See Film Favorites

The visit of the forty film actors and actresses, now in Boston, to the sick and wounded veterans at Parker Hill Hospital, which was postponed yesterday after the service men had waited on the hospital steps two hours, was set for today.

The veterans and 200 children of all ages gathered late yesterday afternoon for the expected visit. They wanted to greet in person the men and women with whose faces and figures they were so familiar on the silver screen.

It had been announced that the stars would distribute candy and cigarettes, but this did not play much of a role in the minds of the veterans, who were anxious to see and hear their film favorites.

After waiting an hour the veterans were told that the actors and actresses had been delayed by crowds downtown and that it would be after 6 before they could get to the hospital.

The sick and wounded men have grown used to waiting since the war and though disappointed, settled down in their places expectant.

Forty-five minutes later came another message saying the visit would have to be postponed until today.

A number of the stars have expressed a wish to visit the following Boston shops:

Hribe's Sporting Goods Store, No. 746 Devonshire street; at noon, Penn the Florist, No. 124 Tremont street, at 1 o'clock; Gillette Safety Razor Factory, at 3; Jaunsen & Hubbard, No. 26 Kingston street, at 4.

Points of interest, historical and otherwise, were to be visited by the stars during the day.

This will be followed by dinner at the Copley-Plaza at 6:30 and another "appearance" at Loew's State Theatre at 8 o'clock. An hour later the stars will appear on the stage at Loew's Columbia and they will leave at midnight for New York, their visit over.

TAFT WOULD ABOLISH BIG COLLEGE ELEVENS

Washington, March 15.—Chief Justice Taft, speaking at a meeting of the Yale Alumni Association, of which he honorary president, said he believed the growth of big collegiate athletic exhibitions was militating against the intellectual life of the institutions. "These games for the entertainment and edification of the people are not really for the good of the universities," he said. "I would be glad to see a stop put to them."

BROWN STUDENT, HURT IN TUSSLE, IS DEAD

Providence, R. I., March 15.—Russell Kendall, twenty years old, of Montclair, N. J., Brown sophomore, who fractured a vertebrae in a friendly tussle with a fraternity brother here on February 27, died at the Rhode Island Hospital today. It was stated at the hospital that the fractured vertebrae was not the cause of death. Kidney trouble set in and the youth died from acute nephritis and anaemia.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough syrup, easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use either molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and is safe for it's low cost. It can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes, with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LOST BREAD-WINNER IN MILTON SHOOTING

MRS. EVA JOHNSON AND CHILDREN

Esther, 13 years old and Mildred, 2. The head of the family, John Johnson, was shot by Caleb Loring Cunningham, wealthy Milton man, on his estate. Cunningham is now on trial for murder at Dedham.

WIDOW COLLAPSES AT CUNNINGHAM TRIAL

eyes with a handkerchief. Mrs. Johnson testified to her husband's movements on January 5, 1921, on the night of which her husband was found shot dead on Cunningham's vast Milton-Quincy estate.

"My husband first left the house on that day at 11 in the morning," she said. "He returned at noon. He sat down to his dinner and then spent a little time talking with our daughter. About 1 o'clock he lit his pipe and went out into the yard.

"A few minutes later I saw him pick up an axe and strut off toward the woods in the rear of our home. I watched him as he walked away and that was the last time I saw him alive. That night two police men brought him home, dead."

At this point the widow broke down and was assisted to an anteroom by Assistant District Attorney Adams. She subsequently returned and answered a few questions of minor importance.

MAP OF ESTATE.

She said she was living at No. 37 Grove street, West Quincy, at the time of the murder. She is now living at No. 83 Parker street.

Patrick F. O'Brien, civil engineer of Quincy, the real witness, described a large map of the Cunningham estate hung near the jury box. He pointed out a number of spots upon which figure prominently in the trial, including the "pine tree" under which Johnson's body was found the night of the murder.

Dr. Frederick E. Jones, medical examiner of the district, the next witness, testified to going to the Cunningham estate on the night of the murder and finding Johnson's body lying under a tree. He said that the man's clothing was soaked with rain and that, at first, he appeared to have met a natural death.

FOUND BULLET WOUND.

Under his direction he said the body was later carried to Johnson's home. There the clothing was removed and a bullet wound found in the middle of the man's back. The bullet had come out at a point on the right side.

The witness was briefly cross-questioned by counsel for the defense on the holes wound and the general condition of the body when found.

Ernest L. Hodgdon of No. 32 Hobart street, Quincy, a seventeen-year-old boy, testified that he, with two other youths, discovered Johnson's body on the night of the tragedy. He said the two were looking for dummies, who had been reported missing. He described the finding of the unconscious body on the edge of the Cunningham woods.

The testimony of Hodgdon was followed by John J. Brady of No. 7 Bryant street, Quincy, and Joseph W. Tuttle of No. 30 Pine grove street, Quincy, his companions on the death night.

WOOL FREIGHT RATE TO BOSTON "REASONABLE"

Washington, March 15.—Existing rates on raw wool from the West to Boston are reasonable today by an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner who reported recommendations after investigating the complaint of the Boston Wool Trade Association. However, the examiner declared the railroad practice of refusing to limit cars moving to the Pacific Coast to allow picking up of small wool shipments constituted a discrimination against the rail and water traffic. This, it was suggested, the railroads should be required to remove.

QUINCY MAYOR BANS MARBLE PLAYING

Says "Bunny" Holes Trip Pedestrians; Indignant Kids Loudly Roar Protest

You will find the saddest and maddest bunch of kids on earth today in Quincy.

It's all because of an order issued by Mayor William A. Bradford forbidding the playing of "bunny" marbles on the public sidewalks.

The mayor says he was obliged to issue the edict as the result of many complaints from hard-headed persons, who claim they have tripped over the little holes the youngsters dig for their "bunny" games.

The mayor has instructed the police to enforce the order strictly and bring offenders before the Juvenile Court.

So today the kids are fumbling pocketfuls of useless marbles and trying to devise some way of wreaking dire vengeance on the city's chief executive.

"I hated to do it," said the mayor today, "but I couldn't help it any way out. A lot of people have complained, and if some accident occurs they'll say I have a bunch of suits filed against the city."

Some of the saddest kids are urging a "mass meeting" to protest what they are prone to characterize as an autocratic usurpation of "their rights and liberties."

"I sure is in tough world, folks—ask those Quincy kids."

GOMPERS PLEDGES AID TO JOBS FOR VETERANS

Indianapolis, March 15.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today informed the national headquarters of the American Legion that organized labor would give "every encouragement" to the legion campaign to relieve unemployment among veterans of the World War. Thousands of members of the American Legion are also members of the trade unions and the sympathy of the wage-earners will go out to those who did so much for not only our own country but for the world," he wrote.

Sixty, but Content to Follow Crooked Path to the End

Lorand Dolasco is in again.

Sixty years old, but he can't drop his "profession."

"Once a burglar always a burglar," says Lorand.

Today in Superior Criminal Court he was sentenced from eight to twelve years.

A few months ago he finished a sentence of eight to thirty-eight years in New Jersey.

Delance came to Boston, and immediately Hyde Park and Mattapan residents began to bombard police with calls for protection. "Everything up to pianos were being lifted."

Police grabbed Lorand.

Today he stumbled out of court and looked like any old man would look with an "eight-year bit" ahead of him.

SEARLES ASKS HEART BALM SUIT CUT

Counsel for Victor Albert Searles, wealthy sugar refiner of Boston, Methuen, today filed in the Suffolk Superior Court a motion asking a reduction from $2,000,000 to $100,000 in the amount of damages asked of Mrs. Grace H. Searles of Pittsfield and formerly married him by Mary Johnson of Rockport.

Hearings were to have been had immediately upon the filing of the motion, but arrangements for counsel for other named in the suit were not set for hearings for Friday.

According to the motion, the amount claimed by Miss Johnson is far in excess of the sum that ordinarily is awarded in a damage suit of that nature.

SOVIET WARNED BY TROTZKY OF NEW WAR

Rumored Monarchists Are Negotiating With U. S. Capitalists, He Says

Moscow, March 15 (By International News Service)—Trotzky, Soviet war minister, addressing a conference of Soviet workers in Moscow, celebrating the fifth anniversary of the Russian revolution, warned the Russians not to place hopes in the Genoa conference, which he looked down upon by the minister of Russia as the scene for an offensive.

Trotzky warned his hearers that a union of Finland and Poland means danger of another war.

He charged that the Russian Monarchists in Estonia were preparing uprisings of the populace, and said that he had heard it rumored that Grand Duke Nicholevich was negotiating with American capitalists. He declared that the allies would force the border States to attack Russia in the event Russia did not yield to the Genoa proposals.

"Russia is not willing to return to the capitalistic order," he declared.

Trotzky lauded the American Relief Association and said that the United States was giving more aid to Russia than all of Europe combined. He urged that Russia must rest a spirit of friendliness toward the United States.

Although he declared it was rejoiced that American capitalists are financing General Wrangel, he said it would be the greatest holiday when the United States shows "that it is powerful to support the Russian workers."

Trotzky predicted that there would probably be civil strife in Russia during the next three months.

Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. A. A. R. I. R. IN CAMPAIGN TO BEAT LODGE

Both McCall and Gaston to Be Asked to Run Against Him

A campaign to defeat Senator Henry Cabot Lodge by rushing to the front Governor Samuel W. McCall against Gaston in the Republican primaries and Colonel William A. Gaston against him as the Democratic nominee for United States Senator was today disclosed by letters which have been sent to local officers of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, John E. Hartigan of Worcester, the State president. President Hartigan said in his letter:

"The cards are stacked by the Republicans to nominate Henry Cabot Lodge for United States Senator. Can we break this ring? Lodge is an American and pro-British in his viewpoint. He, more than any other man, prevented the passing by the Republican resolution for recognition of the Irish Republic. Had he not viciously antagonized it Ireland would have been recognized months ago. As Americans and as friends of Ireland, we ought to defeat Lodge. How may we best do this?

"We must urge Honorable Samuel W. McCall to aspire to the Republican nomination for the United States Senate. He apparently has a chance for the nomination.

"But we must also organize to fight Lodge, if he wins that nomination. To do that, we must nominate the strongest Democrat available to be a candidate for United States Senator. That man appears to be Honorable William A. Gaston.

"We believe that individual letters to Messrs. McCall and Gaston may induce one or both to aspire for United States Senator. We will forward such letters to you under separate cover. To be signed and forwarded by your members at once.

"Be sure, if neither will be a candidate, we will have them to urge others to fight Lodge in the primaries and on election day.

"As Americans we must be up and doing. If we can defeat Lodge it will be the greatest triumph for Americanism and Irish rights ever accomplished and the worst blow ever suffered by Anglo-maniacs in our country."

Washington Cook to Stay in Race

Washington Cook of Sharon, who recently announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, said today that he had received a number of letters asking him to withdraw in favor of some other candidate.

"In justice to myself, and to the many friends who have pledged me their hearty support, I cannot, under any circumstances, now withdraw," he said.

Cook said he would "stand or fall" squarely upon the following platform:

A brotherhood of nations capable of taking in all nations, managed by the proper men under divine guidance.

A strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

A national divorce law, which will make it impossible to obtain a divorce in one State, only to remarry in another.

Strenuous measures to stop further negro lynching in the South.

An adequate soldier compensation act without further delay.

Granting to women the same right to hold office under Federal, State and municipal governments as men.

COLYERS STATE THEIR ATTITUDE ON DECISION

Editor Boston American:

In connection with the dedication decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals which became effective March 15, statements have been given currency in "to give" the effect that although a decree granted the underground wire company to cease the United States "voluntarily" some time past it is. This misinformation, apparently, to come from the offices of Morris Katzeff, who caused the case to be instituted and argued in this court before the case was heard in the Circuit Court.

The personal items are worth while as news, it is also worth while to have them correctly stated, and that none of our acquaintances shall be misled thus supposing that we have privately entered into some arrangement with the government whereby we shall avoid deportation, we ask you to give publicity to this denial.

We are not contesting the decision of the Circuit Court—for reasons which need not be elaborated here. It is of course, by no means certain that the United States Supreme Court would grant the writ of certiorari necessary to enable the case to be carried further, but even if it were certain that an appeal could be taken, it would still be a gross misrepresentation of fact to suggest that we are about to leave "voluntarily," because we have not chosen to incur the large further expenditure of money and effort involved in an attempt to overthrow the unanimous decision of the Circuit Court.

MEDBURY

Says There's No Harm in a Couple Running Away, if You Run One Way and She Runs the Other

They are trying to pass a law making couples wait three days after they get their marriage license before they get married. They figure this will cut down elopements.

Nobody wants to wait three days before they get married. A lot of them don't even expect to stay married longer than that.

If we had to wait three days after we got the license we wouldn't have to pay two dollars for it, we could get all the second-hand ones we wanted for 19 cents apiece.

Three days is ridiculous, some married couples don't live together for that length of time.

It is supposed to prevent elopements, but couples don't elope any more. With everything so high today what father is going to stop his daughter from running away?

Elopements are so welcome now that once in a while a father even helps his daughter pack.

It isn't when they elope that he gets sore, it's when he thinks they're coming back that makes him mad.

One father forgave his daughter for running away, but made her promise to let him know the next time she did it.

The law is trying to encourage marriage in the homes. This is a good idea, but so far marriage hasn't succeeded in keeping a man in the house.

It has made him want to stay at home, but not always his own.

The law says it's wrong for a man to elope with a girl, but it's not. Whom else would he elope with?

The law says a couple should not get married quickly. If they didn't

5 SHOTS FIRED; CAR GOES OVER EMBANKMENT

Five shots fired after an automobile by a patrolman caused it to be driven over a 20-foot embankment at Brookline avenue, near Ipswich street, it was revealed in Roxbury Court today. Two occupants, nursing four, were not injured.

Driver John W. McAuliffe of Covington street, Back Bay, was in court charged with operating a car while drunk and violating traffic laws. He was held for a hearing on March 23.

Traffic Policeman Sullivan testified he fired the shots after McAuliffe whizzed by him, refused to stop and ignored his first shot into the air. He was arrested after the car hit the embankment and overturned in a field.

Mayor Wheeler of Gloucester Loses Plea to Dismiss Slander Charges

Gloucester, March 15.—Mayor Percy A. Wheeler was ordered to stand trial today on the charge that he slandered the American race committee by his inaugural reference to the manner in which the schooner Elsie was equipped to compete in the international fishing vessel championship series last Fall.

Judge Edward J. O'Brien of Lynn denied motions by counsel for the mayor that the declaration be amended, that the whole matter be dismissed and that a plea in abatement be accepted.

He directed that trial be held at an early date, to be determined shortly. The committee based its allegation on statements attributed to the mayor that the Elsie was equipped for the international race with a main boom longer than usual and with sails that belonged to another vessel.

SHOTS FIRED IN CHASE OF FLEEING AUTOISTS

Mounted Officer Frank Sullivan of the Back Bay station captured three men in an automobile chase early today after firing five shots and forcing the driver to run the machine over a ten-foot embankment on Brookline avenue.

The three men escaped injury, and when booked at the Back Bay station gave their names as John W. McAuliffe, Roland Rothwell and William Beatty. McAuliffe was charged with drunkenness, and the other two were held as suspicious persons.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time associate, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

BOSTON IRISH TO PROTEST TREATY

Republican Group Calls Mass Meeting on Friday Night

Captain Robert Monteith, of the Irish Republican army, known as "Ireland's Man of Mystery," will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at a mass meeting of supporters of an Irish Republic on St. Patrick's Day evening, Friday, in Franklin Union Hall.

The meeting is to be called in protest against any treaty with England, either by Ireland or the United States, until Ireland is restored to her national status among the European small nations. Captain Monteith, who has had many adventures in defying the British, will tell "the truth about Ireland, her fighting strength and her national aspirations."

Captain Monteith was born in Wicklow, Ireland. He is a Protestant, his father's family coming from Ulster. He scouts the idea of the Irish question being a religious one, claiming that bigotry is fostered by the British government.

WAS WITH CASEMENT.

After nine years' service with the British army in India and South Africa, Monteith returned to Ireland and became identified with the trade union movement. Later, in the making of the Irish Republican Army, Monteith took a prominent part. As officer in charge of instruction of the Dublin Brigade he was responsible for the training of Thomas Fenton, Eamonn de Valera and others who figured in the uprising of 1916.

Monteith was deported by the British government but made his way back to Ireland and engaged in blockade and gun running. Eluding the British in the North Sea during the World War, Monteith passed European frontiers without passports.

Perhaps the most spectacular chapter in the story of his remarkable career is his return to Ireland in 1916 with Sir Roger Casement and Sergeant Bailey. Their cargo of arms was captured by a British cruiser in Tralee Bay. Casement and Bailey were arrested but Monteith escaped to the Kerry Mountains.

PRICE ON HIS HEAD.

In the guise of a Franciscan friar the determined Irishman spent eight months a fugitive, with a price on his head and cut off from his comrades.

Dr. John F. Kelly has been invited to preside at the meeting. Among those on the committee on arrangements are Miss Martha Foley, Dr. J. F. Gallagher, Miss Mary Sheehan, Miss Anna Donovan, Miss Annie English, Miss Mary Donovan, Miss Julia Farley, Jack Stevens, James F. McGrinde, Miss Katherine Farley, Thomas H. Johnson, Miss Ellen Donohue, J. J. McNamara, H. G. Whittemore, Arthur Joyce, Jeremiah Carroll and Miss Margaret Ryan.

O'Duffy Makes Peace at Templemore

Templemore, Ireland, March 15 (By the Associated Press).—The dispute between different factions of Irish army troops over the occupation of the barracks here has been amicably adjusted as the result of a visit from Owen O'Duffy, chief of staff of the Irish Republican Army, and Adjutant-General Sullivan.

Troops of the Mid-Tipperary Brigade had occupied the barracks when the British troops evacuated them, and refused admittance to detachments of Republican army regulars. Through the adjustment the barracks are now occupied jointly by the local forces and by the regular detachment from Dublin. The local commandant, in explanation of the incident, said the guard at the barracks, acting under instructions, had refused admittance to the arriving detachments, as it was not clear at first whether the new arrivals were entitled to enter.

EAR BREAKDOWN OF LLOYD GEORGE

By International News Service.

Priceiehn, Wales, March 15.—Although there are rumors in London that Lloyd George's retreat to these Welsh mountains was due to diplomatic illness, it is learned on the highest authority that the Premier's physician advised that unless he took a complete mental rest that he was in danger of suffering a complete breakdown as a result of his years of hard service.

The Premier today suffers from nerve strain. His wife and secretary are trying to even prevent him from answering his correspondence, ing of the London Daily Quard-

RARE CHANCE FOR STUDENTS OF VIOLIN

London String Quartet Devoting Entire Week to Beethoven's Works

By FRED J. McISAAC.

The London String Quartet, that English organization which scored so heavily at its first concert here some months ago, is at Jordan Hall every night this week, performing its fabulous series of playing all the Beethoven quartets in a single week.

They are performing the quartets in chronological order, beginning Monday night with the early ones, and they offer to students of the violin as well as the general public a wonderful opportunity to become acquainted with the quartets of the greatest composer who ever lived.

They play with a smoothness of tone, an adherence to tradition, a love and appreciation of Beethoven and which makes even the least meritorious of these quartets, which, like all combinations of all masters, are of unequal merit, a delight to hear.

There is no affectation in the work of this band, no effort to secure effects contrary to what the composer had in mind for the music of a thrill or a climax. They play in a scholarly manner, brilliantly, sympathetically, understandingly.

The audiences are constantly growing. There were more than there last night than on Monday night, and by Friday and Saturday the house will undoubtedly be packed. It was a pleasure to study the audience, which is of a more professional in its character than any recital audience I ever saw. Most of these people know the violins and love Beethoven. They want to understand him better, and here is a heaven-sent opportunity.

To an ordinary music lover, an entire week of Beethoven tonight be monotonous. But a single evening of Beethoven well is something not to be forgotten—nor this play ing of the London String Quartet.

Daylight Saving Repeal Defeated in Senate

Massachusetts is today assured of five months of daylight saving this Summer.

The bill for repeal of the daylight law was rejected by the State Senate, and in its place was substituted a resolution urging Governor Cox to confer with the Governors of the other New England States to determine what effect daylight saving has had upon them.

Daylight saving will begin the last Sunday of April, and will end the last Sunday of September.

SIX ARBUCKLE CASE JURORS SELECTED

Defence to Have Twice as Many Witnesses as Testified in First 2 Trials

By International News Service.

San Francisco, March 15.—That the defence in the third trial of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle will strongly attack the credibility of the State's witnesses was indicated today by questions put to prospective jurors as to how much weight they would give to testimony from "discredited" witnesses.

Some hint of this plan also was given in an announcement that the defense would call twice as many witnesses in this trial as testified in either the first or second Arbuckle cases.

Six talesmen-jurors, including two women, were in the jury box when court convened for the third day of the trial today. It is not anticipated that the box will be tentatively filled before tomorrow, after which it will be open to the State and defense for twenty-six more peremptory challenges. This is expected to prolong the task of jury selection into next week.

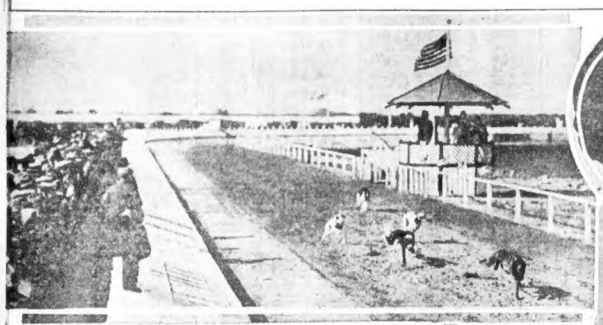
IDEAL HOUSES TO RENT AT $2 PER WEEK



DOGGING ALONG AT A FAST CLIP! One of the most thrilling sports enjoyed by Winter vacationists at Miami, Fla., is the dog derby races over a quarter-mile course. This photograph shows the speedy greyhounds tearing down the homestretch. They race like horses and with less coaching.

THE "NEW" WOMAN! Mrs. Jennie Erickson, Pulaski County school superintendent, Arkansas, and one of the most able politicians in the State, who draws a salary of $4,000.

"SWEET SPRING, full of sweet days and roses, a box where sweets compacted lie." So sang the poet. These poetesses of rhythm are the first out to greet the Spring. Pupils of Helen Moeller, photographed in exquisite pose in New York's Central Park

A SOUND INVESTMENT! It looks exactly like a phonograph, but it's a radiophone receiving apparatus. Songs and messages thousands of miles away can be heard in it. It was a feature of New York Radio Show. (Underwood)

TELLING THE WORLD! John H. Williamson, law enforcement commissioner of Chicago, said to be the first man to use the radiophone to make known to the public what the law expects of them. He issued a series of messages in this manner.

LINGER, LONGER! Observe the long skirt in this new model just arrived from Paris. This Spring dress is fashioned of black wool velour of the lightest weight, draped and held by buckle. Sleeves are of black crepe.

CYRIL W. C. ARMSTRONG, little known Chicago attorney, who woke up the other day to learn he had acquired the title of earl and a fortune in India. (International)

MAKING THE GRADE ON HIGH! Miss Elizabeth Hatt, England's champion woman hurdler, has nearly finished her training for the international games soon to be held at Monte Carlo. This photograph was taken at Paddington, where most of the British girls trained. (International)

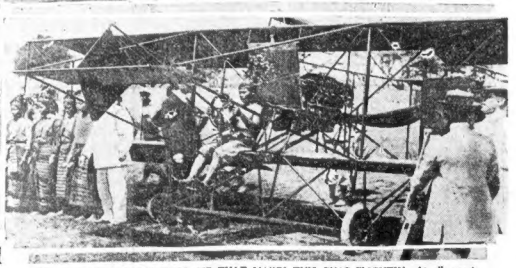
EVERYBODY Loves A Queen! Mlle. Bucher has just been elected queen of the queens in the Palais des Trocaderos, where the various Paris districts cast their votes. (International)

THESE RENTS Will Never Rend Your Pocketbook! 'Tis true, these houses rent for but $2 per week. Let's get one. All you have to do is move to Germany. Erected for Krupp employes in the village of Margaretrenhof, near Essen. Have every modern convenience.

CONGRESS Is A Hard Stream To Ford! Edsel Ford, son of Henry, the well-known Ford, has his eye on a seat in Congress. He hasn't announced his party affiliations yet. This is not a new Ford joke.

IMMORTAL "BIG SIX"! Miss Gertrude Boyle, sculptress, who presented this replica of her big statue, "The Spirit of Baseball"—for which Christy Mathewson posed—to Richmond Borough, N. Y. It was then presented to Jim Mutrie, oldest living baseball "pro."

ARCH GOLF PLAYERS! An odd game of golf between an expert archer and a clever golfer. Dr. Saxton Pope (with bow), big game hunter with bow and arrow, played T. R. Hird, golfer (bending). The score was Pope 83, Hird 74. Played on municipal links, San Francisco. The archer used a ball-shaped arrow head. He made the 17th hole in two shots. (Underwood.)



PERHAPS IT'S THE TROPICAL AIR THAT MAKES THIS CHAP FLIGHTY! At all events it indicates progress in the Philippines, for this daring pilot is a full-blooded igorrote and he is in native dress, truly a strange fusion of the old and the new. He was one of the first of the natives to master the problems of the air. Observe the old-fashioned "pusher" biplane with its queer rudder apparatus. Native women and officials apparently are interested in the flight he is about to make. (International.)

PAR-KERRY

SEVERAL new topcoat models that are the last word in topcoat style and topcoat comfort have been given the common name of PAR-KERRY.

PAR-KERRY on a topcoat means a storm-proof fabric, desirable pattern, and style and fit that is at once correct and up to the minute. It comes in raglan, belted (for example, the Rugbert sketched above), and box models. A PAR-KERRY with the box treatment is the Carlton sketched at the right.

In a word, there are models to suit every figure, fabrics to suit every need, and colors and patterns for every taste. They are priced from $10 to $60.

Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is with Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes off. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer in shoes or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.

FINANCE and BUSINESS

—By B. C. Forbes—

All men are not what they seem. Some disappoint when you get to know them thoroughly. Others do not.

William H. Remick, ex-president of the New York Stock exchange, who died the other day, was a thought-provoking type. I was once balled before the governors of the New York Stock Exchange to explain my published criticism of their actions and Mr. Remick stood up to the ordeal and most fearlessly defended his fight for reform. Again, when I met him a few weeks ago at the annual dinner of the New York Edison Pioneers, he cheerfully was made to my appearance before the exchange authorities. Mr. Remick's broad, kindly face and very touch to have you in front of its story.

Now, investigations have convinced me that I had an entirely wrong impression of Mr. Remick. Beneath his aloof manner he had a very kindly heart.

Employees of the stock exchange declare he was one of the best friends they had. He was the man who gives them extra financial compensation every year. was instrumental in getting the pension and put through by him, and that he was a generous friend to those in need.

The late J. P. Morgan was like that. In the eyes of the public he was a regular bear. Almost everybody was afraid to approach him.

A financial reporter, more daring than experienced, once walked up to the private sanctum of the senior and asked him a question. Mr. Morgan, after recovering from his astonishment at the unprecedented audacity, shook his cane at him and exclaimed: "Young man, that's a most reprehensible question."

Yet J. P. Did all sorts of kindly and charitable deeds as any man in the whole financial world. Thousands upon thousands of them were very numerous were all very carefully passed upon and Mr. Morgan hated so much to say no so generously that he gave away more money than his associates relished. "These gifts to our fellow men," they said to have exceeded $3,000,000. One of Mr. Morgan's close personal friends tells me that he was full of fine human qualities, he added, when Mr. Morgan entertained guests on his yacht, he would think nothing of accidentally breaking away from them and going into seclusion for hours, to play solitaire.

James N. Wallace, the late president of the Central Union Trust Company, was another man who wore an uninviting exterior. When a financial editor wanted to give a rich friend tremendous thrill to crack he asked him to go and see Wallace and request certain information. Yet Wallace had the tenderest of hearts and quickly did a great deal for poor people and for worthy causes. Here is one instance:

A middle-aged financial reporter, who had been going in to see Mr. Wallace off and on for some years, went to interview him one day, and the reporter's elected request about capital was refused. It seemed him if anything was on his mind. The reporter realized that his mission had turned down for the present and that he carried no insurance on it. Mr. Wallace immediately changed the subject but as the reporter was leaving told him there might be a telegram for him at the office late in the afternoon and to see Mr. Soand-so, vice-president. What this vice-president handed the reporter was an envelope and in the envelope was a check for $8,000.

E. P. Ripley, the famous railroad giant, was another man who appeared to take a special delight in talking blunty and gruffly. The first time I met him he almost made me quake. After that, however, I got to know him very well and easily understood why he was so extremely popular with his associates and also with other people who knew him. He really wore a mask, it seemed to me, to hide his real self.

There never was a colder or more austere human being, outwardly, than the late James Stillman. His exterior was little thought I was introduced to him. I very well recall, was this: "You are a young man. I have been told that you are discreet." When I protested, he explained, "I don't like men who say they are discreet. Men who are shy when I told that I was going to write a character sketch of him and fiercely forbade me to say a word about him. Even after I had told him that I was going to write the article whether he would give me any new information or not, he would not. He acted as if he had very seriously been contradicted. However, I was not deterred as that was. Finally I spent two whole afternoons with him in the most intimate conversation I ever had. It was almost as interesting, one of his secretaries confidentially gave me instance after instance of things he had done without any of the beneficiaries knowing to whom they were indebted. I discovered that Mr. Stillman had a special receptacle built into the automobile which he used in France and that he filled it every morning with choice, carefully-wrapped bon-bons, which he threw to the children as he motored along country roads, and that he was known to the children as "Monsieur Bon-Bon."

L Stocks Close Weak in New York; Call Money Down to 3½%; Exchange Higher

RAIL REACTION TURNS PRICE TREND

Failure of Great Northern Directors to Act on Dividend Depresses the List

By W. H. ROSS
Financial Editor

The New York market was weak at the close but final prices were a little above the lowest for the day. There were no bright spots in the session, the volume of business was small and the tendency was toward lower prices. The weakness was due largely to the failure of the Great Northern directors to act on the dividend question. Another factor was the fact that the market had been overbought and was ripe for a reaction. Some of the leaders showed a loss of 2 points or more. Call money was easier, renewals being made at 3½ per cent. Time money was irregular and sluggish, receiving and company offering rates ranging from 4½ to 5 per cent. Sterling exchange was weak, declining Great Northern following the failure of directors to act on the dividend question. Bonds were irregular.

Many unlisted stocks were traded in over the counter. Prices were higher were established by American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers. The latter finished 4 points. Strength of foreign exchange helped stocks. Demand sterling was strong and rates advanced to $4.45. Money opened at 4 per cent, and dropped to 2½ per cent. before the close. Hill Rail Issues React Suddenly

By W. S. COUSINS.
Copyright, 1922, by Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, March 15.—The stock market moved forward without boom or rush in the early part of the day, held up well on the report of the directors of the Great Northern Railway that they had unanimously failed to declare the regular stock dividend and announced that a special dividend of 5 per cent. would be paid on account of the profits earned in the year.

Later, when the directors of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific almost immediately dropped four points each, so, too, did the rest of the market, and the "gains" and the whole railroad list took on a much different aspect from that which had been given by the first and buoyant opening.

Action of the directors of these two roads was the first important response to the announcement of the new rates, and it was disappointing to those who had hoped to participate in the 2 per cent. raise on the preferred stock, and caused further action will be taken in time. The stocks rallied somewhat in the afternoon on a report signed by Louis W. Hill, chairman of the board, and president of the Great Northern Railway, that the directors had not declared the regular stock dividend because they hoped to continue the 2 per cent. raise on the preferred stock, and because they wished to conserve the present financial conditions. This stock will be paid next month, and the directors will act further on the dividend later in the year.

Action of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific almost immediately dropped four points each, so, too, did the rest of the market, and the "gains" and the whole railroad list took on a much different aspect from that which had been given by the first and buoyant opening.

The copper stocks were more active and strong than the rails. This seemed to be the afternoon as a natural response to the announcement of a further reduction of refined copper prices, the fifth reduction in the period during the first two weeks of March. Anaconda crossed 50, 1/2 on bull support, and Kennecott, Utah Copper and Chino all rose 1 point.

Central Leather pushed through to a new high record for the price table. It is believed that the company is making a determined effort to settle the labor struggle which is still on, after making an $8,000,000 increase in the dividend rate on the common stock. The company will report on the earnings for the year on the common stock on December 31 and March 31 in 1921 in the form dollars.

ARGUMENT A GOOD ONE.

Lower rates have conceded to farmers and others to give them a start back to normal and for the purpose of enabling them to buy more freely into a boom favor, but they are extremely likely to assume that the argument for reduced rates is permanent.

The argument for moderately high income rates is a good one in this respect that we are not out of the woods that business is not in condition state that there are no serious dangers that we should not run into a period of inflation and that by reducing artificial stimulation. We cannot pass out from under depression into booming prosperity.

Affairs are going on very well as they are and the increase in deposits in Chicago, and doubtless throughout the country, is a highly encouraging sign. At the present rate of increase we should soon be able to say that the last dregs of the liquidation period are running out.

BANK DEPOSITS SHOW GAIN OF 93 MILLIONS

Chicago Influx Evidence of Rural Prosperity, Says Evans

By C. B. EVANS.

Chicago, Ill., March 15.—An increase of over $93,000,000 in the deposits of banks in this city between December 31 and March 10, as taken some people by surprise, is evidence that the flight of funds that the community fell into during those ragged times of business depression.

To those who have kept close track of events, this gain in deposits carries the deposits of these institutions above $1,384,000,000, is not unreasonably large. Chicago's many thousand in number, have not only paid up heavy losses during the period mentioned, but have also made large new deposits in this city since the time a few months ago, when they were in such a panic as to regard the condition of the farm corn prospects.

Another cause of the inflow is the manners in the banks waiting for something to do in the investment line. In many instances, these moneys are remittances for which they are temporarily here, and many a man considers himself lucky to get out of the process with a comfortable surplus.

BONDS SNAPPED UP.

The condition of the bond market is evidence of the surplus of funds which naturally find a resting place in the large bankers dealing in bond issues, by month of bond issues, have dipped into the deep wells of this city, they have not exhausted the investment fund nominally, but even impaired it. Every proposition of good quality that comes along is promptly accepted by the investors.

The other items of the statements are comparatively little interesting, and are for as the public and for the banks is concerned some bankers feel that they are likely to be for some time to have more available money than they can lend to advantage.

The question of future rates is engrossing considerable place in the minds of the bankers. Practically all of them have yet disposed of the opinion that there will be no change in the money market in the near future months should be a subject of much anxiety. Many of them regard the present solvency or should be looked on as foreshadowing dull business.

BLAME REDUCED RATES.

Some of the best authorities declare that the reduction of freight rates is a mistake in endangering the solvency of many banks. This opinion was taken by the Federal Reserve System, that is by the bankers generally, and the rates have been inimical to the financial interests and the interests of individuals. They argue that the policy is not legitimate, but in the way of helping the farmers or, no doubt, eventually useful.

A timber calls attention to the different rates for the same class of the three preceding the war. During the two year period, 1913-14, the banks made practically no losses. "We did not lose $10,000 in ten years," he said, "the rates are good. Never was there a time when more improvement is needed in many respects in the banks of this country than now. If the rates for money are reduced there will be more bank failures."

Naturally, this authority contests the Washington idea that cheap money will make business active. If the policy is to cheapen the farmer or anybody else the idea that by getting low rates through government aid business prosperity will follow the borrower. We have had sufficient experience to know that this is a highly instructive report on that subject, and we all know what the result was in the fourth period of 1921 in the farm dollar.

ARGUMENT A GOOD ONE.

Lower rates have conceded to farmers and others to give them a start back to normal and for the purpose of enabling them to buy more freely into a boom favor, but they are extremely likely to assume that the argument for reduced rates is permanent.

The argument for moderately high income rates is a good one in this respect that we are not out of the woods that business is not in condition state that there are no serious dangers that we should not run into a period of inflation and that by reducing artificial stimulation. We cannot pass out from under depression into booming prosperity.

Affairs are going on very well as they are and the increase in deposits in Chicago, and doubtless throughout the country, is a highly encouraging sign. At the present rate of increase we should soon be able to say that the last dregs of the liquidation period are running out.

Readers who are taking part in the present Famous Titles Test, if they have not prudently placed standing orders for the Boston American, are advised to at once order tomorrow's paper in advance.

SOUTH BOSTON DOUBLES.

Cambridge, Medford, Roxbury, Somerville, Rowley, South Boston, Amesbury and Brookline turned in the largest numbers of Book Test correct titles and to these communities go the principal awards. South Boston, scoring for the first time, carries away a "double."

While, as it happens, seven of the nine principal awards thus are the plums of residents of Greater Boston, the fact is that they go to the districts named, simply because from these districts came the largest numbers of Correct Titles. There is no reason whatever why, in the Famous Titles Test, the largest number of Correct Titles may not come from Worcester or Lowell, or out from any other city in New England. Correct Titles, and not your post-office address, will tell the story.

On the thirteenth day of the Famous Titles Test the Test will close for your consideration a simple little picture which will appeal to you at once. When you have studied it, turn your attention immediately to the List of Titles and select the ONE title in this list which fits today's picture better (much better) than any other title in the List.

THERE STILL IS TIME.

That title—the one which fits the picture best—is the Correct Title. This will be true every day.

There still is time to enter the Famous Titles Test and no matter its ways that YOU may be the winner of the $1,000 award. You need not "enroll." There is no call for registration. You are not expected to notify this office. Begin! Start today! In about two weeks the Test Editor will be provided with such Back Pictures as you will need to complete your set. Please do not ask for them until announcement is made that they are ready.

It is important that you cut out and save the Test Drawing every day.

It is important that, at the same time, you cut out and save for reference the List of Titles. Test Drawings are not to be sent in before the close of the Test. (The List of Titles are not to be sent in at all.)

CONCERNING TITLES.

Every contestant should read the Rules of the Test. One of the most important is that which provides for the disqualification of "task," nearness, judgment and exact accuracy count nearly.

The Title Test will consist of a total of 60 drawings, much after the pattern of today's. Contestants are expected to write a title for each drawing. Every day a List of Titles will be printed. Each day's List of Titles will contain the Correct Title of the day's picture.

Bear in mind that the Test Artist is illustrating one of the TITLES in this List. The title, the exact title, the word or the words which compose the title and given as a picture to represent that TITLE.

He does not mean that you shall quickly decide upon the very title he had before him when he drew the picture. He wants to deceive you. It is his purpose to mislead you. And yet it is true that one title in the list fits the day's picture better than any other.

WATCH YOUR STEP.

To that extent, and only that extent, every picture among the 60 may reasonably be called a "trick" picture. But in no case will the Test Drawing be concealed within another drawing. There are no hidden objects to look for.

Today's picture is No. 13. Thirteen used to be considered an unlucky number. Watch your step!

Every member of the family may take part in the Famous Titles Test, and each must make an individual set of answers. The Test is open to every reader of the Boston American residing in New England or Canada.

Two hundred and nineteen cash awards will be given by this newspaper to its readers who submit the largest percentage of correct titles to the sixty pictures to be published one each day for sixty days on consecutive days except Sundays.

All employes of the Boston American and their families are absolutely barred from participating in the awards.

The test will consist of sixty pictures, each representing a famous title, to be printed, one each day, in the Boston American, the first picture to be published on Wednesday, March 1, 1922.

Participating in any other contest which has been run, which is now running or which may hereafter be run in any other paper will not debar readers from this test.

Every participant or any or all members of a family will be allowed to submit one set of pictures but each set must contain the List of Titles for each picture and no participant shall be entitled to more than one set, and no more than one award shall be given in any one family.

Each set must be plainly written or typewritten and must bear the full name, residence, etc., of the participant on each sheet.

Do not send your titles in "list" form, but write the title of each picture under the corresponding picture.

In case there are no complete sets of correct titles received, the award given to the one submitting the nearest correct solutions, as determined by the judges, will be awarded.

In case of a tie awards will be made on the basis of neatness, arrangement and correctness, but if the tie cannot be decided on these points duplicate awards will be given to the tying contestants.

Under no circumstances should participants send in their titles before the end of the Test, as any sent in before the last picture is published will be rejected. KEEP your titles from day to day and at the end of the Test, when in possession of all pictures and titles send them in all together at one time.

Time to Think About U. S.

We Also Have a Few Problems and Dangers—Or Do They Bore You?

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

Are you interested in public matters? Or do they bore you, as they bore 90 per cent. of us American citizens? We have all GOT to be interested, without choice, in the affairs of the country before long. Business itself, prosperity, the ability of each to spend and get what he wants must now be included in the word "politics."

You have observed that the national government, which ought to interest itself in this country, is tied up exclusively with the affairs of Europe. Only sixteen months have passed since by seven million plurality the people notified the government that they wanted THIS country looked after a little and Europe left to one side.

The incoming party took the offices and immediately started a Washington conference. Only just escaped from the League of Nations, it allowed Mr. Balfour to write an imitation league, a Four-Power Treaty. And unless a miracle of energetic public effort occurs, the seven million plurality that refused ANY European mixup will be tied securely to a new treaty within a short time.

Government and Congressmen deliberately flout the expressed will of the people, because there happens to be no election within a few months. But an election is coming next Fall, then many, including, perhaps, Senator Lodge from Massachusetts, will discover that if the people are fools, at least they don't like to be told so.

What is the object of making ourselves directly or indirectly responsible for the debts, the worries, the inevitable future fighting of the white nations of Europe that do not know enough to let each other live?

They remind you of those dogs in Constantinople so neatly disposed of by the Germans when they went in to manage the city for the Turks. The first thing was to collect all the howling dogs and put them on an uninhabited island. There they devoured each other, and that settled them.

It would have been foolish for anybody to go to that island while the dogs were tearing each other.

It is foolish for us, for our "Five and Ten" statesmen, to insist on sending Uncle Sam to Europe. His pocketbook, big as it is, wouldn't last long. And no matter what he does he will not be thanked—quite the contrary.

The most intelligent country in Europe is France, as able as any, and hitherto marvellous in financial management. What is the financial condition of France? Here is the answer:

Her debts have steadily increased since the war ended. At the end of this fiscal year they will amount to 467 billion francs, about ninety billion dollars, at normal exchange rates. The interest charge on the debt will exceed twenty-one thousand million francs a year. That will absorb the entire income of France "without leaving anything to pay her public officials or insure any of the public service." These figures are given by Henri Cheron, in charge of the French budget.

France, like Belgium, is waiting for the conquered golden German goose to lay a gigantic golden egg—and that goose isn't GOING to lay the egg, for it isn't IN the goose to lay it.

France has an army of almost a million, Belgium has an army of two hundred thousand, Poland has a gigantic army. What can this country do in a situation like that of Europe, with all the good will in the world? Why jump into the maelstrom?

Let the government of this country look after THIS country, think about its five millions of unemployed men, its silent factories, the wheels that are not turning, its freight cars idle, its farmers close to bankruptcy.

Let us learn statesmanship by observation.

The English came and got what they wanted. They must have control of the sea. We were about to take it from them. At their request we not only stopped building battleships, but junked ships that had cost three hundred millions of dollars. Nominally they have the same fleet as we have. Actually we might as well not be on the ocean at all. For their great commercial fleet, plus the battle fleet, represents the real power.

Japan also came and got what she wanted. English engineers had shown that by fortifying Guam in the Philippines we could make ourselves forever safe from attack by Asia. Mr. Balfour and the smooth Japanese talked to our four little provincial gentlemen sitting in a row, and with criminal stupidity this country pledged itself not to protect itself with eastern fortifications. No hurry for Japan now. We are to await her pleasure. Meanwhile, England continues fortifications and the establishment of coaling stations everywhere on the globe. Very intelligent nation she is. We must not blame her or feel bitter toward her, because we happen to be represented by provincial innocents while she is represented by statesmen of the first rank.

Can you tell anything that we gain by guaranteeing to England, France and Japan peaceful, permanent possession of their lands in the Pacific, some taken from Germany after this late war? What business is it of ours to guarantee anything?

Are we going to get anything from Europe? Is there anything that they could get from us that they would not take? Do they not already owe us ELEVEN THOUSAND MILLION dollars which we shall not get? Isn't it about time to have a United States government worrying a little about the UNITED STATES?

Isn't it a little early even for a Republican administration to forget the meaning of that seven million plurality a few months ago?

The government ought to be at least as much interested in preventing coal strike in this country as it is in the trouble of Turkey or Poland. South African strikers under the red flag are shooting the officials; not pleasant reading.

Or a while labor was well fattened, like a Strassburg goose. It had big wages, twelve-dollar shoes, fourteen-dollar silk shirts. If those things had continued all would be well.

There were no troubles in Rome while they kept the crowd quiet with free bread and entertained with free public killings of Christians in the arena.

The Washington authorities urge employers to hire people, saying that conditions are getting worse, millions are reaching the end of their resources. That is an important, bad situation, and one strike very easily spreads into half a dozen strikes.

That should interest our statesmen. More important than guaranteeing to Japan and England permanent possession of their Pacific Ocean lands would be to guarantee to the United States at least a partial return of their former prosperity.

Nerve of the Railroads

Attempt With Aid of Commissioners Synan and Cole to Recover Short-Haul Business by Increased Motor Truck Tax

If Commissioners Synan and Cole of the State Public Works Department are correctly quoted by the State House News Service in their argument for an increased fee on automobile trucks, it was rather a sickening performance.

The other day we said that we had no evidence supporting the charge of the automobile industry that Mr. Cole favored an extra tax on trucks in order, among other things, to throw the short-haul freight business, now being so satisfactorily done by the automobile truck, back to the railroads, which had discarded it, and which now like dogs in a manger, want it back again. Mr. Synan openly argued for the increased tax on trucks in behalf of the railroads. Mr. Cole supported him.

Any member of the Legislature who votes for this bill, in order to hamper the carrying of short-haul freight by trucks, betrays the interest of his State. The railroads exploited, abused and threw away this short-haul business. The trucks took it up and are making it satisfactory both to themselves and to the public. Now to have it deliberately destroyed by legislation in behalf of the railroads, which have helped to destroy it themselves and whose wretched condition is due almost entirely to the private mismanagement, is something that only a railroad would have the nerve to attempt or even to dream of.

Entirely Against English

Feeling in India Regarding British Rule Very Different From Situation in Egypt

We have received the following letter:

No. 372 Massachusetts Avenue, March 8, 1922

Editor Boston American:

In last Friday's editorial section there was an article entitled, "Beware of Propaganda in the News of India," where you were outlining the fact that the hatred of the people of India is exclusively directed against the British Empire.

Considering your statement as applying to all Mohammedan countries under British protectorate, I should say the writer of the editorial is in error.

I was in Cairo in April, 1919, when the uprising started where the first victims, numbering more than forty, were Greeks and Armenians. Then came the turn for the Jews to be persecuted. I was reading recently in the "La Bourse Egyptienne" that a number of notable French and Italians were assassinated. (I will send you the paper if requested.)

In April, 1919, one of our Greek neighbors came home with a bleeding face telling that he was beaten by a bare-footed mob, because of being a Christian.

I am not an Anglophile, but merely want to cross the t's and dot the i's. Your paper cannot afford to pervert the fact or be unwittingly untruthful.

Sincerely yours,

KAZANJIAN N., student.

The letter is pointless because it assumes what the editorial does not say.

However, the situation in India is entirely different from the situation in Egypt, where there is a strong Mohammedan sentiment against the recent British conduct in the Near East. But that is much less important than the hatred of the people in Egypt against the British, because the British have broken faith over and over again with them concerning withdrawal from Egypt. This is quite different from the manifestations against all Christians in Egypt on account of the Mohammedan sacred places, and the enforced disintegration of the Ottoman Empire by Christian armies.

In India, the feeling is wholly nationalistic, and is directed entirely against the English. Two hundred and forty-five million people in India are not Mohammedan.

Doctors and Two Masters

Industrial Accident Board Ready to Help Correct Grave Evil in Favor of the Workingman

Doctors on the payroll of insurance companies will not be permitted to act as impartial examiners for the Industrial Accident Board by a bill introduced in the Legislature by Ex-Representative Patrick F. Moran of East Boston.

The Industrial Accident Board was created to protect the rights of workingmen injured in the course of their employment. In cases where the insurer and workingman have been unable to agree to what caused an injury or the amount of damages suffered, the Industrial Accident Board appoints a physician to act as an impartial examiner. The very nature of his duties requires that he be unprejudiced.

Many of the "impartial" examiners are receiving huge fees from insurance companies and may be seen daily in court testifying for their corporate clients.

It would be rather unreasonable to suppose that many of these gentlemen could be impartial. Even learned physicians cannot serve two masters, especially when the rich insurance companies do not restrict themselves to $5 fees as is the case with the Industrial Accident Board.

That the Industrial Accident Board intends to help remedy this evil was shown at the legislative hearing when Chairman William W. Kennard announced that a number of physicians have been dropped from the board's list of impartial examiners as a result of their close association with insurance companies.

An Honor to His Race

The memorial services last Sunday for Colonel Charles A. Young, the colored regular officer who died in Liberia in work for his country, call our attention to the life and service of this man, who held the highest military office a negro has ever held in this country.

It was not the high rank he held, but the way he employed each rank as he served in it on the way up, which brought him this memorial testimony, and makes him an honor to the race.

We respect him, and respect the race whence he sprang, a vigorous race which has done a great deal for this country and is capable of doing a great deal more when it is given more chance.

Letters to the Editor

The Tag in Politics

Editor Boston American:

The only irreconcilables in the United States are those who refuse to accept our determination to be AMERICANS, in our own way.

It seems a pity that a man can't consistently stand for his principles without being victimized with some sort of a classification.

It is ABSOLUTELY certain that we want no alliances nor weakening of our resources or means of defense, yet there is a small but noisy minority that keeps us in hot water just because we want to run our government in our own way.

Old Age Pensions

Editor Boston American:

About a year and a half ago your paper did great service to the men and women who were urging Congress to pass a retirement bill for superannuated clerks in the government employ. The bill was passed in Congress and Postmaster-General Burleson had every clerk who had reached the age of 65 years to get out. But now I see by the daily papers that the Attorney-General of the United States has made a ruling that of the 8,000 clerks retired, 6,400 have been receiving a pension illegally, by reason of their not having any part in a competitive examination.

By depriving these old men, many of them having no other means of support, is going to entail great hardship to them. I have not seen any paper mention how hard it will be for these men. May I ask, will you say a kind word for us?

POLLYANNA NOTE

"The new death house at Sing Sing," says a New York paper, "is built on raised ground and has a cheerful outlook."

Gandhi Winner of a Great Diplomatic Victory

By Taraknath Das,

International Secretary, Friends of Freedom for India

POLITICAL unrest in India has brought about a cabinet crisis in London and Hon. Samuel Montagu, the Secretary of State for India, has resigned. This has resulted from the note sent by Earl Reading, the Viceroy of India, to the Secretary of State for India asking for the revision of the Treaty of Sevres in favor of Turkey.

Last January Gandhi, the leader of the Non-cooperation movement in India, served a notice to those who wanted to co-operate with the government to the effect that he would be willing to have a round table conference with the government provided the government agreed to settle three demands he had on behalf of the India Nationalists. The first demand was that justice be done to Turkey by revising the treaty of Sevres on the following principles:

Full restoration to the Turks of Constantinople, Adrianople and Anatoli, including Smyrna and Thrace. Complete withdrawal of non-Moslem influence from Arabia, Mesopotamia, Palestine, Syria and therefore withdrawal of British troops, whether English or Indian, from these territories." Young India, Jan. 19, 1922.

Called Unreasonable

Earl Reading and others thought that the demand was unreasonable because it would mean revision of even the Treaty of Versailles and it would be impossible to recommend it to the British government. But Gandhi fussed his ultimatum that he would not give up the Non-co-operation programme and the masses of India have begun to refuse to pay taxes in all parts of India.

The unrest has become so serious that Lord Rawlinson, commander-in-chief of the British army in India, on March 9th demanded that the military budget of India be increased from 48 crores to 62 crores of rupees (one crore is equivalent to $4,565,000) which is more than double the military and naval expenses of Japan. This bill was passed in spite of the opposition of the Indians.

Lord Rawlinson claimed during the debate that "seditious propaganda was being circulated among the population, which caused the necessity of calling out troops almost daily to preserve peace and guard against attempts of seditionists to tamper with the loyalty of Indian soldiers. . . . internal condition of India gave cause for serious anxiety, and the ability of the government to maintain law and order would be seriously tested in no distant future."

The strength of the revolutionary movement in India and the failure of repressive measures adopted by the government of India to check its progress has forced the government to recommend the following measures to gain the confidence of the Mohammedans of India and, if possible, to separate them from the Hindus:

"The government of India particularly emphasizes the necessity of guaranteeing the neutrality of the Dardanelles and security of the non-Muslim population. It also urged evacuation of Constantinople, sovereignty of the Sultan over holy places, restoration of the Turks in Thrace, also in Adrianople and Smyrna. The government urges that these points are of supreme importance to India."

This shows that, although Gandhi's demands were spurned three months ago by Earl Reading, yet the government of India has to come down and accept Gandhi's demands as a basis for the solution of the Turkish question. This is the greatest diplomatic victory of Gandhi, the advocate of non-violent revolution in India. This also shows that India is the centre of British diplomacy in world politics and Britain is willing to make compromises in other parts of the world to keep her hold in India.

Far-Reaching Result

But the net result of this is more far-reaching than the people can realize at the outset. It might mean that in the coming Genoa Conference Britain would try to win Turkey on her side, on the basis of Indian program against France and Russia; but if that be impossible to do, because of the opposition of the British Unionists and others, then the stock of British prestige in the Orient will be lowered and the courage of the Indian Nationalists will be magnified. It would then probably result in bloody massacres in India, about which General Rawlinson has hinted in his speech.

Somebody's Birthday

YOURS is the sunny way of life if born today and one that will bring you abundance of joy and not a little sorrow. You are sprightly, imaginative and lavish both in word and deed, and careless to the point of ruin.

You are quick, intuitive and impetuous, which is apt to bring you considerable misfortune, but misfortune to a personality such as yours is really a blessing in disguise, as it will prove to be one sure source of bringing you to the eventual sobriety which you must have to succeed.

Don't marry in haste and repent 365 days every year for the rest of your life. Persons of the opposite sex are not always what they seem to you, in relation of tenderness. In romance you are apt to mistake your own enthusiasm for the other's reaction.

You should be generally successful in any new enterprise undertaken today except the signing of any legal documents.

An unsettled year awaits you. You will suffer serious financial loss unless you guard against all sudden changes and quick decisions.

A child born today will be affectionate but erratic and unreliable. If a girl she will be generous and extravagant. If a boy he will be improvident, and most successful in the employ of a large corporation.
